THE EDITOR'S COLUMN

The second major stage of development at the West Haldimand General Hospital was completed last Thursday when the new third floor addition was officially opened. For the time being there should be adequate accommodation to serve the public of the area. The need for this expansion so soon after the original Hospital was opened must make those responsible wonder just how long the present addition will satisfy the demands of the area.

We note that the opposition brought before the Haldimand County Council with respect to the location of the new County Administration Building had little effect on the judgements of the Councillors made at a previous meeting. The Council didn't change its mind with respect to the location.

We are patiently waiting to see some action on the Storm Sewers, which we understand will be put in by the Department of Highways this winter season. With the storm sewers in the new streets cannot be far behind. Then, too, we understand the County Road Department may do something soon with Walpole Street. It such is the case there will be little objection from motorists using this street.

Local hockey enthusiasts must be keeping their fingers cross...d as they watch Red Kelly's Los Angeles Kings hang on to first place in the Western Division of the N.H.L. In fact only two other teams, Toronto and New York, lead him in points. For a team the pundits claimed would prove the weakest in the league they are doing pretty well and it may prove that the gentlemanly conduct of "Red" as a player may be the factor that is making his young team perform so well on the ice. In any event his well wishers here will not be unhappy if the team stays in first position.

It is reported that sixteen local deer hunting enthusiasts took off for the North Woods on Saturday on their annual quest for some venison. We are thankful that not too many of them are members of the Volunteer Fire Department. Among the group was Dr Bill Austen who has promised for years to bring us back a taste but we're still looking for it. Of course we never did have the pleasure that he shot a deer, but that is not to say we haven't proof that he frequently shot something else particularly while sitting around the camp stove in the evenings.

A local farmer has a son who shows no special aptitude for business of any description and he has been puzzled what to do for him. He concluded to try an experiment so he locked the boy in a room in which there were only a Bible, an apple and a dollar. He had made up his mind that if he found the boy eating the apple he would make a good farmer; if he were reading the Bible he should be trained for the ministry; if he had taken the money his success as a broker, the father thought was assured. Upon entering the room he found the boy sitting upon the Bible, eating the apple with the dollar in his pocket. As a result of the test the father has decided to educate his boy to be a lawyer and he will enter his course of study.

TURN ROUND

Daisy Reynolds

Bow down your shaggy head, young man,
Put down that hot guitar,
Turn round—young man,
They donned their uniform
With head held high,
And proudly answered their countries' call.
Little they knew of,
They could only surmise the horrors of war,
Of man's inhumanity to man,
Of lust and greed of hunger and dirt,
Indignity suffered to satisfy a mad man's crow.
Bravely they marched into the lion's den
And drove him to the wall.
Turn round, young man
Say goodbye to childish things
Lift your head young man,
Turn round, young man,
And be ready if need be,
To answer your Countries' call.

To my brothers and young men everywhere.
