Board Of Trade Committees Busy

The project committee of the Jarvis Board of Trade told the membership meeting on Monday night that there are several plans in the making.

Chairman Howard Elliott told the meeting of plans to place a drinking fountain near the main intersection of the village and of plans to place litter containers along the streets.

The committee is also investigating the possibility of erecting a series of small dams in the creek to hold the water back to help clean up the stream that runs through the village.

Ted Oldham, chairman of the decorations committee, announced plans for Christmas decorations for the village. When treasurer, Bert Pyfrom, told the members there was $300 on hand, Mr. Oldham suggested a means to raise additional funds for decorations.

However, the suggestion met with some opposition and as a result it wasn't decided how the money should be raised.
