On Saturday morning, March 22, a bus load of young people left the front door of St. Paul's Church to go on a Pilgrimage to ten churches in the Niagara peninsula. They travelled to Dunnville, Welland, Chippawa, Niagara Falls, Beverley (Mrs. Edgar G. Merson) of Alexandria Virginia, Ronald of London, Graham of Waterloo, brother of Frances, Florence, Winifred (Mrs. J. Ainsworth) and Clifford all of Rushton England. Rev. Bayes will rest at the Hyde and Mott Funeral Home, Hagersville.

Local Man ECAS Defenceman

Senior defenceman Gary Mitchell of Rensselaer Poly, who played a brilliant game in the Engineers' 5-2 win over St. Lawrence Saturday night, has been named on the final Division I hockey team of the Eastern College Athletic Conference for this season.

Mitchell of Jarvis, Ontario, in picking up his initial scroll, was outstanding in knocking down shots as only 20 St. Lawrence attempts reached the goalie in the triumph.

The rest of the club includes defenceman Paul Hurley of Boston College; forwards Tom Earl of Colgate, Mike Hyndman of RPI 8-5-1, 12-7-1

The Engineers finished their regular season with an 8-5-1 Division record and a 12-7-1 overall.

Tax Reduction To Continue

Ontario's system of property tax reduction for home-owners and tenants will continue in 1969 with few changes. Municipal Affairs Minister Darcy McKeough announced in the Legislature last week.

He proposed two main amendments: 1. The reduction will amount to no more than 50 per cent of the local taxes on each eligible property. 2. Crown-owned properties, both Federal and Provincial, are confirmed as being eligible for tax reduction to systems.

A Canada Post Office 6c stamp to commemorate the 50th anniversary of the International Labour Organization, scheduled for release on May 21st, will have a unique format which makes it usable in any position.

Pollution Control

The move by the Ontario government to shuffle administrative responsibilities to bring its entire pollution control program under one roof - that of the energy and resources department is a hopeful sign of quicker action to come.

It doesn't really matter who does the job of controlling pollutants in our air, water and soil as long as somebody does - and fast. The problem grows worse daily, and remedial action generally is slow because of the complexity of the problem.

Too often governmental moves take the form of reports, such as that of the Dr. G. E. Hall special committee which flayed the CBC program "Air of Death" in 1967 concerning air pollution in the Port Maitland-Dunnville area.

Now we're having the Canadian Radio-Television Commission holding a special public hearing over the production and broadcast of the program. Some briefs to the CRTC hearing are lashing out at the Hall report for what one conservationist says was its concern "is the man who turned in the fire alarm" rather than "dealing with the man who set the fire." And, as another brief points out, no one denies there is pollution in that area and that it comes from a specific source. Yet little, if anything, is done about it.

Perhaps with the single provincial department responsible, control measures will be speeded up in that region and throughout all of Ontario. - The London Free Press.

Cost Much Higher

Ontario's main reason in changing over to a county school system was to save money says Education Minister William Davis.

The regional type administration would save dollars in the cost of operating schools because only half the people would be employed in this part of the operation. It would also end the bidding for teachers within the boundaries of certain areas, he said.

However, the economics of the system hasn't worked out that way. The costs in Norfolk compared with last year's total budget for elementary and secondary schools has risen nearly $500,000.

This would indicate in this case that just the opposite happened. It is also assured that the extra money will be coming directly from land taxpayers because the grants have been taken into consideration in drafting the budgets.

Hamilton's mayor confronted Mr. Davis with the fact that city faces a 7-mill jump and he replied possibly the province should have another look at the grant structure.

Sure this might be a solution as far as land taxpayers are concerned but it isn't a solution in the overall picture.

This newspaper finds it hard to understand why most of the budgets that have been set in county board setups have taken such a jump.

R. B. King, administrator for the Haldimand Board of Education, said this county's budget won't be passed until the end of this week.

He said there is a good possibility that it may be up considerably when compared with the overall cost of administrating the schools in this county last year.

The Ontario Department of Education asked the boards to use restraint this year in setting their budgets. Obviously this wasn't enough direction.

The department should have laid down more rigid rules and guide lines or left the system as it was.

Meet One Of The Millers

The Dorothy Kilgallen Of Jarvis Wise, Unwise And Otherwise Attacks On The Church

The Christian Church is and again as corrupt, worldly under attack from many and identified with political quarters today, and by oppression and persecution. "Christian Church" I mean This is also partly true, but it the whole body of Christians is not the whole story. While organized into various some men were using the denominations and churches; Church to advance their "all who profess and call political aims, others, both themselves Christians" as men and women, in the distinct from Moslems or monasteries and outside, were Buddhists etc. Modern means using the same Church to help the needy, to give sanctuary to the oppressed world and the divisions in the and so on. The same Church Church seem to hinder direct that produced Cardinal Richelieu also produced our reply. Let us, however, take a brief look at some of these criticisms. One very common one is that the members do not line up to their profession. The answer is that they never did. he saints at Corinth were far from our idea of what a saint should be, but St. Paul called them "saints". Christians are also human beings and apparently education in these days and neither God nor the apostles every one concedes that expects us to be absolutely education is not only useful sinless in this sinful world, but necessary. For centuries But why dwell on this? Think it was the Church alone that rather of the thousands of provided education for as real saints and martyrs that many as would receive it, the Church has produced. Social Welfare is also a much think of how much worse off we would be if those heroic men, women and children, Church was the only organization doing welfare work in a much more needy The Church in the Middle Ages has been attacked again go on.

What about today Government and other agencies have gone heavily into the fields of welfare and education, but the Church is still active in these fields. In Winnipeg St. John's Cathedral School is doing a splendid job in bringing up Christian citizens, and here in Ontario the Church is running "half way houses" for newly released prisoners.
