The monthly meeting of the Community Baptist Ladies Auxiliary was held at the home of Mrs. W. Nauman.

The President, Mrs. G. Hoover opened the meeting with all singing Showers of Blessings followed by prayer with Mrs. G. Marshall leading.

The roll call was answered with a harvest poem.

Mrs. W. Nauman, box convenor gave a report of the work. It was decided to purchase washcloths for slippers. She displayed aprons which had been made. She told of the auxiliary journeying to Bethel Baptist Church at Simcoe to hear Mr. and Mrs. Burchett of Ecuador and told of their work there.

November 17 was chosen as the day for quilting at the church which will begin at 10 am. Ladies are requested to bring a pot luck lunch.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. M. Matthews.

Mrs. A. Lee was in charge of the devotional period. Several portions of scripture were read regarding the life of Paul. She told the ladies to take heart, God is working out his purposes. Satan would like us to get discouraged, we should keep looking up.

Every fruit tree or grapevine has to be cut back drastically sometimes. We should have perseverance, patience and humility. Mrs. Lee closed her message with prayer.

Bless be the tie that binds, was sung by all. Mrs. W. Irwin closed the meeting in prayer.

Lunch was served by the hostess.

SURVIVAL KIT SASKATOON (CP) - University of Saskatchewan students' council this year issued a "survival kit" to new students to help them become acquainted with the campus. It contained a birth control handbook, sports schedules and information of registration and the student health centre.

place in the past 10 to 15 years. "This has made it commendable that this area has been able to retain the community spirit shown here today. The fact that at this gathering all faiths are embraced, and strengthened by a parade including a color party, the village and township councils, Lions Club, Boy Scouts, Girl Guides, High School Band and even the Cubs and Brownies."

He expressed his pleasure in meeting the members of the local clergy also participating in this service and hoped that this ceremony would be continued in the years to come.

He said he had intended to make a few remarks on the past, placing emphasis on the future. However, events which have shaken this nation over the past few weeks changed his mind somewhat. "If we have hopes for the future and wish to preserve our liberty and democracy we had better not casually sidestep the past. He mentioned the permissive society in which we have been living. This has allowed a radical element from within to flagrantly taunt the law and force the governing bodies of this country to impose measures contrary to a peaceful climate. "It is our hope that their recent actions have not been too late for we need a firm hand, even to the point of dictatorial measures."

"Those who chose the 11th hour of the 11th day of the 11th month for the Armistice date had the naive notion that World War I was the war to end war. Ever since then they have been proven mistaken - World War II, the Korean War, Vietnam and the hysterical state of mind known as the Cold War, point out the fact that war cannot end war.

"Declarations of peace do not establish peace. A cease fire silences the guns but does not quench the fires of hate, greed, lust and fear which cause wars."

"We acknowledge the importance of the future but this day must be dedicated to the past. When we cease to remember we lose our identity as a nation," he said.

Oh valiant hearts who to your glory came, Through dust of conflict and through battle flame; Tranquil you lie, your kingly virtue proved; Your memory hallowed in the land you loved."

The parade from church went north on St., turning on Walpole forming in front of cenotaph. Mr. Greenfield, reeve of Walpole, called the roll of those in World War I. The Jarvis roll call was by the Councillor Brintnell for World War I. The province of Ontario wreath was placed by Snowden. The Lions Club wreath was placed by Hoover.

Last Post and Reveille were sounded by Robert Lenos. A prayer by Eric Ramrath.

At the airforce James Doughty placed the wreath provided by the Women's Institute to unknown soldier.

The closing prayer was Rev. Taylor-Munro.

Two blocked punts and an unsuccessful third down gamble by Dunnville gave Hagersville good position but they were unable to capitalize.

In the third quarter, Rick Morris intercepted a Dunnville pass on the Hagersville 25 yard line and returned it 60 yards to the Dunnville 25. From there Warren Howe passed to Kirk Lampman who took the ball in for the touchdown. The convert was blocked.

Hagersville returns to Dunnville next Friday Nov. 6 for the final game of the playoff. We can use all the fan support we can get, so be sure to be there on Friday.

The Anglican Church Women met at the home of Mrs. Harvey and Mrs. Edwin Parsons, Nov. 4 at 8 pm.

The President Mrs. Harry Sumner opened the meeting with hymn number 485. The ACW Prayer and Lord's Prayer were repeated. Mrs. Edwin Parsons was called on to give the scripture reading.

She read the first chapter of Ecclesiastes. We learned the Bible she read from was a family heirloom dating back to 1881.

The Secretary Mrs. Chas. Parsons read the minutes of the last meeting. Roll call 12 members and two visitors present.

In business, Mrs. Dyte and Mrs. Sumner attended the Deaneary meeting at Caledonia Oct. 26-27. The 1971 Deaneary meeting will be held in Dunnville Oct. 6.

It was decided at Parish Council to compile a list of shutins for Mr. Ewing. Mrs.

Dyte read from the Nov. Bulletin. It was decided at a recent executive meeting to merge the devotion and education dept., with parish family dept., on an experimental basis. "Operation Eyeglasses" is a new program to physically aid Caribbean Children, to read the many books sent by ACW.

We were asked to gather up eyeglasses we had about the house. These glasses will be properly prescribed for students. The first shipment goes to the tiny island of Grand Turk in the Caribbean. The 1971 Calendars are available.

The December meeting is a pot luck luncheon, to be held Dec. 2-1 pm, at Mrs. Harry Sumner's home.

Mrs. Leafy Armstrong read a prayer from the Upper Room booklet. The president closed the meeting with prayer.

A most enjoyable program followed. Mrs. Chas Parsons gave a most interesting talk on the Jack Miner Bird Sanctuary. It was begun in 1904 at Kingsville Ont., near Windsor. There are 30,000 birds accommodated. It is Canada's second largest tourist attraction, after Niagara Falls. Mr. Miner was born in Cleveland Ohio. He was known to be a religious man. In banding the birds, he put the name date and a verse of scripture, that verse follows: "Curse, not the King, no not in thy thought, and curse not the rich, in thy bedchamber: For a bird of the air shall carry the voice, and that which hath wings shall tell the matter."

Miner died Nov. 3-1944. His three sons carry on the tradition. Mrs. Edwin Parsons then showed slides of the Miner Sanctuary, also some from the Parsons summer home in Huntsville. Lunch was served by the hostesses.

Mrs. Leafy Armstrong then thanked the ladies for a delicious lunch. A social time followed.

Federation News

Responsibility is something most people want to leave to someone else. In the quest for better things in life, few seem to care what effect it will have on the future.

The demand for a higher income and the desire to live beyond that income along with abuse of credit, has created a situation that is forcing industry out of our country, and encouraging the importation of foreign industrial products.

This has resulted in unemployment and welfare problems, that everyone complains about and expects someone else to look after.

This situation is the same regarding our environment as most people refuse to accept responsibility. It seems that one of the few places there is a responsible approach to some of these situations is from people in the rural areas.

On Nov. 5 the Haldimand 4-H Conservation Club presented a program on "Effective Water Management." How many were interested enough to attend?

The Haldimand Federation of Agriculture which co-sponsored the program compliments the young people for their interest and effort.

The Federation is taking a responsible approach to many of these problems. The Ontario federation recommends negative income tax as a solution to welfare. The administration cost would only be a fraction of what it is and people would be encouraged to work instead of staying on welfare.

The Federation recommends in the field of taxation that people should pay for people service and on property pay for property service. For example the cost of education should be taken off all property. This should be out of corporation and income tax.

The organization supports the recommendations of the Price and Income Commission in attempting to stabilize the economy, and actually does so by keeping farm costs down. Also it encourages the development of a National Agricultural Advisory Council, which would include the total industry.
