Garden Fresh Tasty Cauliflower

The cauliflower, queen of the cabbage family, is no longer a luxury. Available at reasonable prices fresh from Ontario gardens, this delightful vegetable adds new interest to summer meals.

When selecting a cauliflower, look for a white to creamy-white, firm, compact head that has a clean curd. The outer leaves or jacket should be fresh, firm and green, advise food specialists at the Ontario Food Council, Ontario Department of Agriculture and Food. You can be sure a cauliflower is stale or of advanced maturity if the outer leaves are yellow and the curd is discolored and very granular in appearance.

The cauliflower is best cut into quarters or broken into flowerets for cooking. Place the cauliflower pieces in boiling salted water to cover and cook uncovered for 10 to 15 minutes until tender. If it turns yellow, a teaspoon of lemon juice or a pinch of cream of tartar added to the water during the last few minutes of cooking time, will restore the white color. Do not add the lemon juice or cream of tartar at the beginning of the cooking period or the cauliflower will not soften.

There are many tempting and interesting ways to serve piping hot cauliflower. It is delicious topped with grated cheese, lemon butter or tartar sauce, or cooked in chicken or beef stock and garnished with chopped parsley. Cauliflower is equally tasty served raw on a relish tray or in a salad.

If it cannot be used immediately, cauliflower can be stored in the refrigerator in an airtight container for a few days. As with other vegetables, the cauliflower is best used as soon as possible.

Youth On The Go...

Another Success

by Mae McLeod

Sunday, August 15, it was my pleasure to attend, with my family, the chicken barbecue and band concert at the Hagersville High School along with some 960 persons. We all enjoyed a delicious meal of chicken, potato salad or french fries, cole slaw, pickles, bread etc.

The parents of the students in the band put forth a commendable effort in supplying the salad and working in shifts to make this venture a huge success.

The Jarvis Lions supplied their barbecue equipment which helped out considerably. The band played at twenty minute intervals, in the auditorium, throughout the four hours. These students are talented for they played a wide variety of selections to suit the tastes of everyone, as well as some renditions of their own composition. Mr. George Shippey, their director, can be justly proud of the result.

It is my understanding that they are to be the official band for the International Plowing Match in October.

Anyone wishing a real treat in good music should watch for their engagements throughout the fall and winter, for in backing the worthwhile efforts of today's youth we are preparing the adults of tomorrow.

Their next engagement is Labour Day weekend at Cayuga Speedway.

To the band - may we wish you much success in the future in any endeavour you undertake, especially your trip to Europe.

playing cards or ping-pong, tie dying, painting, assisting in the various operations for running the centre and meeting to talk with friends.

The youth are now interested in having parents and interested community members come to see the centre and expressing their views on the project and on youth in general.

Such an opportunity is now available at the open house being held Sunday, August 22. The centre will be open during the afternoon from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. During the course of the afternoon an open discussion will take place in which all adults and youth are invited to participate. Contemporary topics such as "The Value of Education and The Future of Youth" will be discussed as well as the possibilities, advantages and disadvantages of youth centre.

Our local members of parliament - Wm. Kasner and James Allan will be present.

During the evening entertainment will be supplied by a local group. Mark Laforme, who has already made a successful appearance at the Purple Chicken on its opening night.

Hopefully interested persons in the community will be able to see what is going on Sunday to see what where it's all happening.

Wayne Ettinger, Dunnville, 4-H leader, and the Kinsmen Club of Dunnville are to be congratulated on the successful sponsorship of a recent evening with the Dunnville 4-H Calf Club. Members spent the day preparing calves for show at the farm of Harold Bradford. Gerald Freure, Wellandport, was the showmanship judge. Jake Hildebrandt and his crew of Kinsmen prepared a feast of hamburgs and corn. Friends, parents and neighbours who missed the evening show will be anxious to attend next year's event.

For the past week, four senior 4-H members from Bruce County have been staying with 4-H host families in Haldimand. Bernice Hammell from RR 1, Dobbinton, Jill Caslick, RR 1, Cargill, Murray Emke, RR 1, Elmwood, and Tom McCurdy, RR 1, Dobbinton, have been hosted by Peggy Cruickshank, Arlene Fox, Ralph Hedley, and Jeff Turnbull respectively. A few weeks before the Haldimand 4-H'ers were hosted by the same Bruce County families. This type of exchange is an excellent means of getting to meet and understand people from other parts of Ontario.

Federation News

by Otto Crone
All dairy farmers should be saying a grateful "thank-you" to the Canadian Federation of Agriculture since reading the news release of July 31 - "Price hike of $1.15 to cheese and milk producers."

Dairy Commission decides to implement these recommendations. The commission should really have done this ages ago. They were on the right track when they reduced the levy on in-quota milk from 26 cents to 20 cents last June - but they didn't go far enough. If they accept this Federation of Agriculture recommendation, dairy farmers can expect better returns.

At the semi-annual meeting of CFA, a resolution was passed which called for an increase in the price of two cents per pound for butter, two cents per pound for skim milk powder and three cents per pound for cheese. It also proposed a reduction in within quota levy of ten cents per hundredweight, and a reduction in over quota levy of $1.05 per hundredweight. Armed with this added ammunition, the directors of the CFA decided at their meeting in Penticon, B.C. on July 27 to press the Canadian Dairy Commission for higher floor prices and reduced levies because the surpluses that once threatened the dairy industry have practically disappeared. They also felt that these adjustments were necessary to improve the incomes of dairy farmers.

On hearing this decision of the CFA, one elated dairy farmer had this to say: "I just hope the Canadian

The Canadian Dairy Commission has since made their improvements and thus the CFA can now smile with the satisfaction of success.
