Teatime Topics

CP - Snack time at a party doesn't have to be the old things. The Bakery Foundation has some ideas for party foods and snack foods that make a change.

You can make chicken-ham snacks with: slices of white bread, 2 teaspoons soft butter, 1 spoon Parmesan cheese, 2 1/2 ounce can of sliced ham, one 5-ounce can of boned chicken chopped, 2 tablespoons french dressing, one 8-ounce can of cranberry sauce.

Trim crusts, cut bread into desired shapes. Blend the next 2 ingredients and spread over bread pieces. Combine the next 3 ingredients and spread them over bread pieces. Top each piece with a small spoonful of cranberry sauce.

Make Croutons - A chili dip with croutons calls for: 1/2 cup minced green pepper, 1/4 cup minced onion, 2 teaspoons oil, 1/2 pound ground beef, one 4-ounce can of Mexican chick peas, 1/4 cup of tomato catsup, 1 tablespoon Parmesan cheese, 2 teaspoons chili powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 drops tabasco.

Saute pepper and onion in oil, add beef and cook until brown. Drain peas, reserve 1/4 cup liquid. Mash peas, add liquid, beat until fluffy. Add last five ingredients, mix well, combine with meat mixture and heat. Serve in chafing dish with croutons. Makes 3 cups.

To make 48 croutons, you need: 12 slices of white bread, 1/4 cup melted butter. Cut bread slices into desired shapes, four per slice. Brush melted butter over cookie sheet, place bread pieces with melted butter. Bake in 450 degree oven for six to eight minutes or until crisp and brown on both sides.

It is easy to spread melted butter if you use a wide paint brush.

Wine Sandwich: Sauterne and cheese can combine in full size sandwiches or cut into snack bits.

To make eight open face sandwiches, you need: 1/4 cup butter, 1 cup Sauterne, eight 1 inch slices of french bread, black pepper, eight 1/4 inch slices Swiss cheese, paprika.

Melt butter in a large frying pan. Soak bread slices in Sauterne.

Place slices in hot frying pan, season, top each with a slice of cheese and sprinkle with paprika. Cover frying pan, heat 2 or 3 minutes at medium heat, or until bread toasts and cheese becomes runny.

A cucumber accompaniment calls for: 1 medium cucumber thinly sliced, 1/2 cup white or malt vinegar, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 3 tablespoons sugar.

Place slices in bottom of bowl. Combine next 3 ingredients, pour over slices and chill overnight.

THE WEEKLIES SAY...

THE IDEA EXCHANGE
Miles, mountains and a different language could easily prove to be an effective barrier to Canadians from coast to coast who need to understand each other... However, some people are making genuine efforts to break down these barriers and for that reason we have summer exchange programs for high school students... exchange programs for students are worthwhile and indeed necessary. - Chilliwack (B.C.) Progress.

PULL OVER BUDDY
If you happen to be the driver of a camper, or if you tow a trailer, and like to travel at a little slower than normal single car speed, how about giving a thought to the people behind? Pull over now and then when the opportunity presents itself and let the faster vehicles pass. It'll only cost you a few seconds. - Salmon Arm (B.C.) Observer

CONCERN GROWS
A characteristic of current Canadian history is the doubt raised by Quebec as to the future of Confederation... The Prairies, in particular, but British Columbia, too, in no small degree, are becoming critical of what to them begins to look distressingly like a form of political blackmail. It is a damaging suspicion, wholly harmful to the unity of Canada and it should be allayed. But only Quebec, by its actions, can do so. - Kitimat (B.C.) Northern Sentinel

STAMP OUT LITTER
Surely we don't need more laws to induce people to stop using public places as garbage cans. - Campbell River (B.C.) Upper Islander

MONEY PROBLEM
Finding a good cause to spend money on is not usually a problem for service-minded organizations - the major difficulty is raising enough money to go around. - Chilliwack (B.C.) Progress

UNITY NEEDED
It is time that rank and file Canadians made plain their desire for a united country, and rejected in clearest tones the doctrines of those who seek to divide us. - Chilliwack (B.C.) Progress

Elliott Moses Speaks At Knox

Elliott Moses and Mrs. Moses conducted an interesting service in Knox Presbyterian Church on Sunday at 10 a.m., based on conditions past and present on the Six Nations Indian Reserve.

During the past seventy years, inhabitants on the reserve have increased from 5,000 to 8,000. Practically all protestant religions are represented as well as 800 to 1,000 who hold to the old pagan religion and worship in the Long House.

Education is highly valued. The hospital is no longer operated as such, as other hospitals are near enough to take care of the case load for the reserve. Instead the building has become a Home for the Elderly.

He mentioned the Indian Fair and the distribution of "bread and cheese" instigated by Queen Victoria over 100 years ago as social events. There are 1,500 children in elementary schools and 500 in secondary schools.

The Indian Pageant is not of any one tribe. The Ferry operates from morning to 9 p.m. The young people are gradually leaving the reserve.

The Six Nations is the most advanced of the reserves. Those in the far north are about 200 years behind present day customs.

He sited alcohol as their greatest drawback. Drugs having gained only a small foothold. Inter-marriage with whites is becoming more prevalent and many young people leave the reserve for economic reasons, there being very little industry on the reserve.

234 Vehicles In Safety Lane

Hagersville - Only one vehicle had its plates removed after a week of safety checks here last week.

Chief Warren Burger told The Record this was a big improvement over last year as five vehicles had their plates removed.

He said a total of 234 were checked, of these safety stickers were issued for 95, and three charges were laid.

Of the vehicles inspected 20 were what is termed CV3s.

Chief Burger explained that this comes about because of new legislation that has been passed by the Ontario government.

Under this method a motorist is issued a ticket-like form that compels him to take his vehicle to the safety lane for a check. Failure to comply to the written request could result in a $50 fine, he said.

Chief Burger said that he has been operating a safety lane for four years and he endorses its purpose.

"Safety lanes are definitely eliminating unsafe vehicles from our busy highways.

"This year the type of vehicle put through the lane was in better shape than those we put through a few years ago.

"The public is also becoming aware of the necessity of safe cars and are taking a much better attitude towards a safety lane. The majority that put their vehicles through this year were glad to do so. Almost 100 percent of those told to get repairs and report back did so, he said.
