

HAGERSVILLE Highlights

By MRS. A. ESSELMET

Red Liners Anniversary

Currently a large barn south of Hagersville is being remodelled into a clubhouse and a garage area. This is the undertaking of some 30 ambitious young car club enthusiasts, known locally as the Red Liners' Car Club. The group will mark its first anniversary in December, and Hagersville Police Chief W. R. Burger is known as one supporter of the club, which he says is a well-run and responsible organization.

Club members have raised money by rolling lawns, car washes and waxes, held draws, and other activities, the proceeds of which were donated to the West Haldimand General Hospital. President of the club, and a founding member is Jim Strohm.

These "brush-ins", as they are popularly called, are designed to provide protection against dental decay on a mass basis.

number of children in both counties, 70 per cent of these participated in the new program.

Parents must sign consent slip, before child is allowed to participate in the "brush-in" program.

Wells Dry

Wells of four in Walpole Township farm just west of Hagersville dry recently, and farmers suspect it is caused by renewed excavations at the quarry.
