CAYUGA - The ceremonies were for the Mary Edith Group WMS

The November meeting of the Mary Edith Group of the W.M.S. was held at the home of Mrs. Roy Jepson with a good attendance of members and friends.

The president opened the meeting with prayer and several readings.

The roll call on Remembrance was responded to with some very suitable replies including a letter dated 1917 of a soldier in the trenches in France to a friend in Ontario - read by Myrna Guley. The financial reports were given and proved satisfactory.

Mrs. Roy Jepson took the chair for the coming year. All former officers agreed to accept their duties for the next year.

A good program followed with Mrs. William Lint, Mrs. Roy Jepson, Mrs. Jack Biggar and Mrs. Murray Biggar taking part.

The January meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. William Campbell.

On Dec. 2 the members are invited to a social evening in the church hall when members of the Evening Auxiliary will be hostesses.

Editorial Comment:

Clean Water Crusade

Hagersville's Reeve John Kincaid has taken on a crusade that he hopes will involve all the urban municipal councils of Haldimand County. He hopes this will lead to the provincial government giving the go-ahead for a water supply pipeline from Lake Erie.

Last month three Hagersville residents appeared before the village council to protest the discoloration of water being supplied to their homes. Reeve Kincaid at that time said he would do what he could to see if the problem could be alleviated. This past Friday he spoke before county council in Cayuga and in two words brought the attention of the county to Hagersville's problem. Reeve Kincaid described the village's problem as a "plumber's nightmare." He again used those same words at Monday's council meeting when discussing the problem with two representatives of the Ontario Water Resources Commission.

As things go in municipal politics the fact something has been done and is being done within the space of a month is encouraging for those residents of Hagersville whose water supply has been coming out of the taps dirty.

The two OWRC representatives suggested that council get in touch with George Kerr, the provincial minister for the environment to make him aware of the problem. Reeve Kincaid also served notice he would be out for the support of Jarvis, Cayuga and Caledonia in his effort to get a pipeline from Lake Erie.

Reeve Kincaid may have a couple of extras going for him in his bid for the pipeline. The fact the Haldimand-Norfolk Study group has recommended such water supply and the still undisclosed satellite city the Ontario cabinet is apparently studying at this moment.

The witness said the Woodhouse township office and was told there was no bylaw to prohibit construction of the track.

With Brantford at present out of the picture - it turned down a pipeline from Lake Erie in 1966 - the small communities may have a tough time getting to first place provincially with their request, but if Reeve Kincaid is to dedicate himself to this goal as he says, Hagersville, within a couple of years, be able to watch the last of its dirty water go down the drain.

Letter Box

Mr. Sir:

According to your report last week's issue of a meeting of the Haldimand County Federation of Agriculture, some members object to the benefits gained by broiler growers. These same benefits are able to all farm groups under the Ontario Farm Products Marketing Act.

Because a few dedicated broiler growers by years of hard work overcame much opposition and obtained permission to hold a biscuit, a vote of producers was held with a 77 per cent majority of broiler growers wanting a board with power to regulate production. This has brought stability to the whole broiler industry. To call this an "injustice" is itself an "injustice."

Instead of condemning a small group of farmers, may I suggest the critics copy them and bring prosperity back to agriculture.

TRAINING NEEDED

Anyone who is issued a gun licence is assuming great responsibilities. He has been given and accepted the licence with the understanding that he can safely handle a lethal weapon under all circumstances that may occur during his pursuit of the game he may be hunting. Only person trained in the use and handling of firearms should be allowed to assume such responsibilities. Fortunately, the Ontario department of lands and forests agrees with this thinking and lowered hunting licence rate proves their wisdom. —Fort Frances (nt.) Times

Kit McDermott talks to Men ... about Women

Kit McDermott
Radio CKPC

Dempsters asked me to tell you about gifts for women... what they'd love to give themselves, and WHY

If Christmas gift shopping for women is a mixed joy for men, then let me try to help make it perfectly painless!

Just for example: Every woman knows how important accessories are. She knows she can dress up a favorite outfit with unusual costume jewellery, or a colorful scarf for a totally new look. And just as you never have enough ties, she never has enough accessories.

And what great gift ideas these are, I thought, as I browsed among scarves and jewellery at Dempsters. They have the new "soutane" necklace as well as the ever popular ropes, Victorian chokers and choke chains. Pins, bracelets and earrings... everything from European "sparkly" pieces to classic "golds" and "silvers".

A new scarf and hat set handmade in wool from Italy caught my eye, right alongside those gorgeous Maggi Rouff silk and silk chiffons from France.

Irresistible, I'd say! Happy shopping - Kit

Gwen Thompson costume jewellery, exclusive with Dempsters in Brantford, gift boxed from $1.95 to $30. And French and Italian scarves from $10.95 to $25.

The name Burwash has long been associated in retail trading in Jarvis. The business was founded by the late J. A. Burwash in 1869 where the Patterson Hardware is now located. In 1895 the firm moved to their present location. Fire destroyed the building in 1932, but the present store was built immediately thereafter. Mr. and Mrs. Burwash have one son, Harold, who for the past 12 years has been engaged in business in Williamsport, N.Y.

Satisfaction has been expressed by Hon. J. T. Thorson, Minister of National War Services, at the manner in which the youth of Canada is responding to the regulation calling for all persons to fill out National Registration forms upon reaching the age of sixteen.
