

Facts prove it ski-doo '72 Better overall

We want you to look at Ski-Doo early this year for a very good reason. We want people who really know their snowmobiles to get a good long look at Ski-Doo '72 before snow comes. You see, the longer you look at Ski-Doo '72, the more good reasons you find for buying it. Good reasons like the Rotax engine that's designed specifically for winter, so it starts even at 40 below. Keeps on going thanks to a heat-dissipating aluminium alloy block, aluminium pistons and special cooling fins. Keeps going strong thanks to a balanced governor, clutch and drive assembly that give you the right torque at any speed. Then there's steering. Efficient steering that carves tight turns. Ball joint steering for less play. Choice of bogies or track-flattening slide suspension and a super-tough cab.

These are just a few of the many, many reasons why Ski-Doo '72 has more going for you. And this is the season when your Ski-Doo dealer has plenty of time to give you all the cold hard facts. The season when the pros choose their snowmobiles.

Use Gasoline Safely

GUELPH — Today's modern farm operation uses a variety of machines. It is the fuel which powers everything from the tractor to the lawn mower, to the motorboat used for a weekend's fishing.

But don't take it for granted, says Hal Wright, farm safety specialist with the Ontario Department of Agriculture and Food. Using gasoline carelessly can result in a tragic loss of life or property. He offers some safety precautions to minimize the dangers.

Never smoke or allow others to smoke near gasoline containers.

Never store or pour gasoline from a container near an open flame, such as a pilot light on a stove or water heater. The gasoline could ignite.

Gasoline should not be stored in barns or workshops. Gasoline drums should be stored in a separate enclosure at least 40 feet from any other building. They should also be painted red with the word "gasoline" prominent on each drum. Underground storage tanks are more desirable and safer.

Keep a portable fire extinguisher suitable for putting out flammable, liquid fires in a handy place and in working order. Make sure employees and family members know how to use it.

Winter Wheat Insurance Extended

Guelph — The Crop Insurance Commission of Ontario has announced that the final application date for winter wheat insurance has been extended to Oct. 20. Final seeding dates in all areas of the province remain unchanged. The new final application date of Oct. 20 becomes effective this year.

With some crops such as soybeans and white beans still being harvested, many farmers will not have completed plans regarding planting of fall wheat before the end of September. It is felt that changing the application date to Oct. 20 will allow adequate opportunity to farmers in all parts of the province to apply once wheat acreage has been decided.

The present intention of the Crop Insurance Commission is to designate Oct. 20 as the final application date for winter wheat insurance both in 1971 and in future years.
