The Ladies Aid of Knox Church met at the home of Miss Frances Law, the first meeting after the summer recess with Mrs. Wallace Mitchell in the chair and Miss Helen Miller as secretary.

Mrs. Mitchell opened the meeting with the hymn "O come let us sing of a wonderful love" following with prayer. Business was discussed, collection received and dedicated.

The WMS then held its meeting, Mrs. R. A. Miller opening with prayer, mentioning those who were bereaved and asking God's blessing upon them.

Mrs. Herman Fess read minutes of June meeting, called the roll and read correspondence - among other letters from the Presbyterian WMS. There were invitations from this group to attend special meetings in Hamilton - most of which had already been held and reminding all of the packing of the Bale. Collection was dedicated by prayer. Mrs. Alfred Walker convened the program, using a new book of missionary programs for women. Mrs. Powell read Isaiah 52. The hymn "Oh for a closer walk with God" was sung.

Mrs. Walker introduced the program from the book which dealt with Mary as the mother during the early life of Christ until his death. All read the hymn "Crown Him Lord of All." Miss Law read a missionary passage from Roman 10 - emphasizing no difference between Jew and Greek. Others reading scripture verses were Miss Helen Miller, Mrs. Wallace Mitchell, Mrs. Lillie Miller and Mrs. Herman Fess who mentioned work under the heading send-go-and-encourage by prayer and letters those who are actively engaged in spreading the gospel. The president closed the meeting and a sale of cookies was conducted by Mrs. Fess.

meeting on Sept. 16 at the Mackereth's with five members present.

Miss Roulston reported an increase of $156 per year in the grant from the Ontario government. This brings us up to the minimum of $1,483 for libraries of our size per year.

It was decided that the Guild would sponsor a poster contest among the public school students of this district who use this library. The purpose of this is not only to advise the existence of a Library Guild, but also to get the children thinking about the many services the library gives this community, such as the film library and projector rentals; being in association with the Niagara Region Library System, we have access to vast numbers and types of books otherwise not available; the Story Hour and so forth.

The winner of each category will be presented with an engraved silver plaque during Library Week, in mid-November. The categories will be Grades 1 - 3; 4 - 6 and 7 - 8.

Rockford

Rev. Neil MacLean of Brantford, past chairman of Erie Presbytery was guest minister for the Harvest Home services on Sunday. During the morning service the choir sang two anthems, "Serve the Lord with Gladness and Make Someone Happy." At the evening service, Mrs. Orval Petheram was soloist, rendering "Then I Met Jesus and Lord Let Me Live To-Day." Next Sunday, October 3, communion service will be observed.

Rev. and Mrs. MacLean were entertained to dinner on Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bud Priest and were supper guest of Rev. and Mrs. Mackay.

Mrs. Howard Edwards and daughter Jean on Onondaga and Don Thompson of Brantford attended Harvest Home service on Sunday morning.

Mrs. Wilbert North of Garnet and Gordon North had Sunday dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Don Chambers and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Watson of Campbellville and Mrs. Wm. Brown of Tyrell attended the Harvest Home services on Sunday and spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. Roy Kenny.

The sympathy of the community is extended to Mrs. Bernard Smith and family in the loss of a husband, father and grandfather.

Friends N' Neighbors

Sunday morning followed the regular worship service in Knox Church, Jarvis, the session met to finalize plans for the 115th anniversary observance of the local Presbyterian Congregation - scheduled for October 31 11 a.m. and 8 p.m. Rev. Merle Shantz, BA, BD of Old Windham and Lynnville (United Church) charge, out of Simcoe, will exchange with Knox minister, Rev. Granville Taylo-Munro for the morning services and share in the evening with him at Knox Church on the 31.

Sacrament of the Lord's Table is scheduled for Knox Church, Jarvis Oct. 3. Sacrament of Baptism for Tricia Ann daughter of Kenneth Blundell and his wife Nancy (nee Willis) is scheduled for 10 a.m. service at the Stone Church, (Chalmers, Walpole) Oct. 3.

Knox Couples Club have changed their meeting night this month from Tuesday to Friday Oct. 1 on account of International Plowing Match Preliminaries. Couples meeting at the home of Clarence and Rosemary Mitchell.

Interested in what's going on in Palestine these days? Get your information first hand Sunday evening, Oct. 3 at 7.30 p.m. in MacNab St. Presbyterian Church, Hamilton. Rev. Douglas Young, BD, STM, Ph.D., president of the American Institute of Bible Land Studies in Jerusalem is the speaker. Dr. Young has been living for many years in Jerusalem. The place is 116 MacNab St. South. There is parking arrangement across the street.

October 10 is Thanksgiving Sunday. Plan to begin your annual thanks "giving" in the public worship of almighty God in your own church. In consultation with the Principal of Jarvis Elementary School, Mr. Francis, the three local clergy will commence religious education in their weekly classes on Friday mornings. Because there is no school on Friday, October 1, the first period will be Oct. 8.

Canon Arnold Brooks (Anglican) will take the 9 to 9.30 a.m. period with Mrs. Evans' room (gr. 7). Rev. Eric Ramrattan (United) will begin the term with Mr. Weller's class (gr. 5). Rev. Granville Taylor-Munro (Presbyterian) will take the first third of the term with the pupils of Mrs. Bayes' room (gr. 8). The Clergy are planning to use audio-visual and other equipment to add to the interest of these classes for the school children.

Rev. Eric Ramrattan accompanied Rev. G. Taylor-Munro to Toronto Friday morning, Sept. 24, delivering bales to Scott Mission, window shopping for clerical garb. Harcourts' and Harcourts' stories at Ryerson. After a very busy outdoor lunch-time sunshine at Edgemoor Gardens and a tour of the area. The grounds, the ministers returned to Hamilton, searching for reference books in the Mart and picking up scripture orders at the Society.

There may be more to the Pee Wee's game with their Friday night Oct. 3. Another section of week's Record but an accolade to the umpiring for the game. Mr. Taylor-Munro appreciated the importance of rules even for unpredictable meetings such teams; but even the good-will which swirling around a boy and boys brought an unusual crop of Who Won? Well, had fun.

Let's hope that the year olds etc. voting for the first time Oct. 21 will bring fresh interest for all.

How do you think the advance polls posted especially students who are midweek at school. A good training ground for the future. Jr. Choir began the week for many days. Knox is Thursday night for four weeks until the counting begins the night of Oct. 21.

TRIAL COMMENT

Fight Shapes Up

Just a week ago that the Haldimand-Norfolk Conservative Association returned James N. Allan, who has had a distinguished career in the political arena since 1951, will be carrying the Conservative banner for his sixth time.

At the nomination meeting last night at the Jarvis Community Centre, William A. Minister of agriculture and food, perhaps the most accomplished when he told the packed auditorium the "electors of Haldimand-Norfolk are much too sophisticated to tell them who they should have as their representative in Queen's Park in the future, but I want to know that Jim Allan is considered to be one of the capable members ever to sit in the Legislature. He is highly regarded by everyone who has worked with him in the Legislature regardless of their affiliation."

Accepting his nomination, Mr. Allan emphasized the importance in the return of the Progressive Conservatives because of a "new era" under Premier Davis.

Allan's main opposition in this election will be that of the Liberal headquarters in Simcoe with Judd as the party banner carrier. Mr. Judd has been in Simcoe as its mayor during the past several years and generally regarded as a man in firm control of all undertakings.

Simcoe has grown under Alf Judd's guidance and is moving forward in a well-planned, controlled manner. A part of the Liberal party program under its leader, Robert Nixon, a Brantford-area farmer, Alf Judd is able to gain support from the rural areas which is perhaps less well known than in the urban areas.

The New Democratic Party, at provincial levels, has demonstrated it has the ability to win elections. In Ontario, the party leadership has been placed in the hands of Stephen Lewis who is fighting his first election. At the local level the NDP is being led by Thomas Tobey, of Caledonia, a school teacher. While the NDP have shown strength in the urban areas at the federal level, they have not demonstrated real forcefulness in Ontario's rural areas. Haldimand-Norfolk, the fighting will mainly be between the PC stalwart Jim Allan and the new contender Alf Judd. It could make for a close race for four weeks until the counting begins the night of Oct. 21.

J. Biggar Elected Fellow Of Agronomy

James W. Biggar, of water science at the University of California, has been elected a Fellow of the American Society of Agronomy. Biggar, the son of J. Biggar, of Jarvis, Ontario, is currently in New York in connection with the Crop Science Society of America and the Soil Science Society of America.

Election to the society is based on professional achievement and is limited to less than one percent of the membership. Dr. Biggar's contributions, are in water and soil chemistry. Particularly, he has been concerned with developing understanding of the interactions of chemicals and water in the soil profile to improve management systems affecting it.

Dr. Biggar has been on the University of California faculty since 1957. He is a graduate of the University of Toronto and holds graduate degrees from Utah State University. He served with the Texas A and M Experiment Station in the Rio Grande Valley before joining the UC staff.

One of these days Jarvis folks will decide they want a public library. When enough of the over 900 people now residing in Jarvis and the probable 500 to 600 more who will have settled in Jarvis decide to make their wishes known to the town fathers, then a public library will become a reality, seeing, reality.

Meanwhile, over at Hagersville, everyone who anticipates a Jarvis Public Library can practice using the facilities there. The costs are minimal for those residing outside of Hagersville. Just $2 provides a family membership for the whole year, allowing several books at any time.

The more people use the library, the more hours and services the library will provide. Many people think of the library as a place you can get some fiction or feature reading for your spare time. This is just one of the many services a library can provide. Have you a hobby interest, a subject you want to catch up with from school days?

That's where the library can serve you. Do you wish to do research in any field like sports, space, mining, peacetime nuclear uses, oceanography, travel, political and cultural changes in today's world, just to mention a few, you name it.

If the local library hasn't got your desired book on hand, the librarian can get it for you, quite often within hours, from the regional library resources. The library is not an island; it is a partner in a great public service.

A New Start

BURNABY, B.C. (CP) - All Albert Vanderheide wanted to do was farm when he came here in 1964 but a back injury two years later changed his plans.

Today, after being told to avoid heavy work, he runs a Dutch-language newspaper that has tripled in circulation since he took it over.

Mr. Vanderheide, 26, produces Goed Nieuws from his basement in this Vancouver suburb, with the help of his 25 year old wife Coby. Circulation of the paper, published every two weeks, now is about 7,500.

Soon after his injury, Mr. Vanderheide found a job as sales representative for a Vancouver printing firm.

"I was pretty lucky to get the job then," he said in an interview.

"I could hardly speak English at the time."

The experience he gained with printing equipment and techniques helped when the opportunity to buy the newspaper came in 1969.

The paper had begun in 1968 as an advertising circular for a Dutch department store here and grew in circulation to about 2,500. But an increase in postal rates forced the original owners to sell.

"When I took over, I changed the paper quite a bit," Mr. Vanderheide said. "We improved the quality of the articles appearing and made many changes to the physical makeup of the paper."

The readership grew, largely by word of mouth, and now the paper has subscribers in five provinces, the Northwest Territories and 39 states in the U.S. But half the readership remains in the British Columbia Lower Mainland area.

Mr. Vanderheide concentrates on local news and stories from The Netherlands.

"We try to concentrate on areas in Holland where most of the immigrants come from. There are some provinces from which many more people emigrated.

"Even if it's a small item from these areas we try to get it in because people are interested in their hometown areas."

The Vanderheides spend 12 to 13 hours a day working on the 16 page, offset paper, which is in tabloid size. They predict a circulation of 15,000 within two years.

"When I first started I never thought it would become a full-time thing," Mr. Vanderheide said. "But last year we even started to make a little money on the paper."

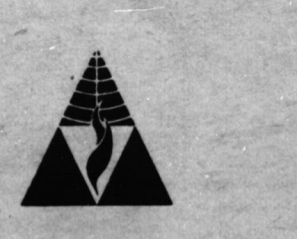

He estimates the Dutch immigrant population in B.C. alone at 70,000 - an estimable potential market. He also prints a special 1,500 - edition run for the U.S. market.
