further dealings with industries the council "should tie them up in order to offset the losses in assessment before they begin construction. Right now we are being taken for a ride and its a matter of the taxpayers suffering.

In other matters, William Whitehead met with council to discuss a stop work order on five apartments being built in a former school house on part of Lot 21 Conc. 10.

The apartments were being constructed without a permit from council, the building inspector or the Haldimand - Norfolk Health Unit.

It was decided that Mr. Whitehead could continue construction if all other requirements were met, including the health unit's sewage bed requirements and if the building was converted to only two apartments.

Induction prayer was led by Rev. D. Irwin, Central Baptist, Brantford.

Ron Cocking met with council to discuss the flooding on his farm land abutting Stoney Creek. Mr. Cocking requested Long Point Conservation Authority to hold a study on the cause of the flooding and both Rainham Township and Walpole have been asked to meet 25 per cent of the cost of the study along with the effected landowners.

Council was not wholly in agreement with Mr. Cocking's contention. The cause of the flooding is thought to be, from lack of clearance for the flood area at the outlet to the lake. Mr. Cocking was asked to contact the Department of Agriculture for an engineering study.

Council resolved the pay for councillors per meeting would be $30 along with the reeve. The reeve would get a further $200 honorarium each year. The pay increase was retroactive to Jan. 1, 1972.

Knox Presbyterian Women

Helen Miller was hostess for the April meeting of Knox Church Ladies Aid and W.M.S. on the afternoon of Tuesday, April 4.

Mrs. Wallace Mitchell, president, and Helen Miller, Secretary-treasurer, were in charge of the meeting. The president opened with an Easter Poem. The hymn Beneath the Cross of Jesus was sung followed by prayer and scripture reading. The minutes were read and adopted, Roll Called and correspondence read, including invitation to the Cancer society tea and bake sale on Saturday April 15 at 2.30 p.m. Discussion of business rules regarding change in approximate prices in accord with the times gave committees the privilege of using their own judgement in buying supplies, gifts, etc.

Helen Miller and Frances Law were complimented on their choice of a rug for inside the front door. Mrs. R. A. Miller and Mrs. Herman Fess took charge of the W.M.S. Mrs. Miller opened with a poem and read an Easter letter from Rev. Harvey Sider, superintending missionary, in the District of Purnea, Bihar, India, for the Brethren in Christ mission in India. As Mr. Sider had been principal of Jarvis Public School for some years before entering the ministry and becoming a Missionary, Mrs. Miller is always eager to share his letters with the Presbyterian ladies. Mrs. Fess read the correspondence, called the roll and read the minutes. The quarterly supply fund will be sent to the Hamilton Presbytery.

The new officers of the Hamilton Presbytery were announced: Mrs. Coleman President, Miss Lillian McNab, Treasurer. An invitation was received to the Synodical Society of Hamilton and London Missionary meeting to be held in Erskine Presbyterian church, Hamilton on April 11. This will be an all day meeting dealing with synodical rules and open to the public.

The offering was taken and dedicated and Mrs. Charles Powell convened the program. Opening with a creed for kindness and reading from the study book "Christ's sacrifice on the Cross. Hymns were sung and stress laid on the sacrifice of Christ being willingly given and the fact that newly Christian nations are most impressed by the Resurrection. Also stressed was the fact that Christians in other lands observe Silence without surrender, stoop not to sham, be calm and happy. The President closed with prayer in which she mentioned the forthcoming visit of Mrs. Powell to her native Scotland where she has not been since 1913.

Mrs. Fess and Frances Law were in charge of the food sale. The May meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Lloyd Mitchell.

Mrs. Fess moved the vote of thanks.

An invitation has since been received to attend the annual Thank offering meeting

Protein Feeding For Layer Hens

KEMPTVILLE - A different approach to feeding protein to layer hens may result in better egg production and cheaper feed costs. A. M. Morphet, head of the Poultry Division, Kemptville College of Agricultural Technology, says a project at the college indicates that delaying heavy protein feeding until the layer stage may help to increase both size of eggs and production.

In the experiment, about 1,500 hens of 13 different strains were divided into three groups. One group fed 12 per cent grower supplement, the second 14 per cent, and the third 16 per cent from nine to 22 weeks of age. Results showed the pounds of feed consumed per dozen eggs were virtually identical at approximately 3.8 pounds. The mortality rate for the three groups was also almost identical, averaging around 16.8 per cent.

In the second experiment, approximately 2,600 hens were fed 12 per cent grower supplement for the nine to 22 week period. At 22 weeks, the hens were put on 22 per cent layer ration, instead of the usual 16 per cent. This ration was maintained until peak production was reached. However, in the first month of production after the age of 22 weeks, the hens produced 675 dozen eggs, with at least 50 per cent grading medium or better. With a price differential of 20 cents between mediums and peewees, getting the hens into this type of production could be a tremendous advantage, says Mr. Morphet.

Normally it would take at least three weeks before the hens stopped laying smalls and peewees and started laying larger eggs. While the price per ton of feed is $10 more at 22 per cent than at 16 per cent, the production of mediums and better helps offset the increased price.

REPORT

CAYUGA - Now that the spring weather has arrived, complaints are being received with regards to drag racing on county roads. A recent complaint from Selkirk resulted in a charge being laid against a local Selkirk youth for travelling 100 miles per hour in a 60 m.p.h. zone.

police car on the Six Nations Indian Reserve. Two break and enters of cottages were reported in the Dunnville area in the past couple of weeks. Cottages were entered since being checked during winter months by Cayuga OPP officers.

One liquor charge was laid along with a man being charged with impaired driving.
