Through the kindness of Rev. and Mrs. Sider, Mrs. R. A. Miller enjoyed a Historical trip on Sunday afternoon including a visit to the Hugh Clark Log Cabin Museum near Nelles Corners and the new Museum Building now being erected on the Courthouse ground at Cayuga.

They also called at Hagersville Hospital where Mrs. Miller called on Mrs. Richard Telford, formerly of Jarvis, who is progressing favorably.

Nanticoke CGIT

For the twenty-fourth consecutive year, the Nanticoke Community C.G.I.T. is a thriving organization. It's 23 members between the ages of 12 and 16 gather each Monday evening at either the Anglican Parish Hall or the United Church for fun and learning.

The girls are divided into three groups: junior, with Sharon Stone as leader, intermediate led by Madeline Thomson and senior with Helen Snowden.

Sharon, a first-year leader, is a graduate of C.G.I.T. as are Debbie Vokes and Gail Dennis who are helping with games each week.

The season began Nov. 6 with a pot-luck supper in the parish hall and the ensuing Monday nights have been spent preparing for the annual Christmas Vesper Service to be held on Sunday, Dec. 17, at 8 p.m. in the United Church.

Joy Field has been coming from Port Dover to direct the music and Elsie Doughty, an immediate past-leader, has been assisting.

On Monday, Dec. 18, the girls will go around the village carolling and will gather afterwards for their party at which they will make New Year's trays for the West Haldimand General Hospital.

During the winter there will be studies, discussions and handicrafts done in the groups, with a trip to Toronto to shop and attend the Ice Follies as a special outing. The group was honored last summer by having Karen Hobbs accepted as one of a specially selected group of senior girls from all of Ontario to attend Camp Councilat Ryde Lake in Muskoka.

The executive for this year is: president, Karen Hobbs; vice-pres., Sharon Field; secretary, Brenda Gleave; assistant secretary, Julie Vokes; treasurer, Jennifer Snowden.

Few Election Changes

A generally light turnout of voters across the county on Monday's municipal election resulted in few changes in the makeup of the various councils.

One major change occurred in Cayuga where incumbent Reeve Ted Powell was defeated by the county agricultural representative Ken Best.

This will be a surprise for many at the county council level where Mr. Powell was an active proponent of many progressive moves, especially regarding regional government.

In Jarvis there will be no change in the makeup of the village council.

Although there was an active fight in Walpole Township, there is only one change, with Nanticoke area farmer Phil Hare picking up the seat left vacant by Harold Nie, who did not stand for nomination.

The major contest was between incumbent Deputy-Reeve Bruce Meehan and an active lakefront spokesman Howard Nicklin. Mr. Nicklin is the president of the Walpole Township Citizen Action Association, whose membership is derived primarily from lakefront property owners.

Mr. Nicklin showed up well in the advance polls, but lost heavily on election day. This might be attributed to the fact that many of his supporters are non-resident property owners and were not able to make it to the polls because of the near blizzard conditions Monday.

As it stands, the council is composed of almost entirely farm representation. Whether openly stated or not during the election, a problem exists in the township between the lakefront property owners and the rural areas. This hinges on certain proposed bylaws that will regulate the use of summer residences.

Without a strong voice on council from the lakefront property owners, representation will again be left in the hands of citizen associations to voice opinions on matters affecting their properties.

Problems Storing Corn

The weather this fall has been less than favorable for the maturing corn crop. Both dry and wet ears are found in every field. Because of this, farmers could have problems when they crib their corn, says C.E. Moore, head of the Agronomy Division, Kemptville College of Agricultural Technology.

Mr. Moore offers some suggestions to help prevent problems developing. First, the corn should be harvested at as low a moisture level as possible, preferably under 30 per cent. With unfavorable harvesting conditions, the moisture level can be as high as 35 per cent. Problems can develop more easily as the moisture content increases.

When the moisture content is 30 per cent or over, crib width should not exceed 4 1/2 feet. The drying action of winds will not work if the cribs are any wider.

At the elevator, the farmer should make sure all the husks and shanks are removed from the cobs. When they are not removed, rot can develop.

At the same time, he should make sure that the elevator has a grate to remove loose shelled corn from the load. If this is added to the cobbled corn in the crib, it too can produce rot. Great care should be taken in temporary or emergency storages. If you use snow fencing, the diameter should not be over six feet. This area will allow proper drying. A cylinder arrangement in the center will increase air circulation, says Mr. Moore.

News From Knowles

This is my first newsletter following my re-election. I plan to continue this practice on a monthly basis as a means of keeping you informed concerning my work as your Member of Parliament.

I shall also report on the action in the House of Commons and other happenings of general interest on Parliament Hill.

Mere words seem totally inadequate to express my sincere thanks to all of you who worked so untiringly to secure my re-election on Oct. 30. The tremendous victory must bring genuine satisfaction to all of you. Neither space nor fairness to all permit me to name individuals whose efforts contributed to our success.

Our whole organization was superb - our presidents, their executive, the municipal chairmen, poll captains and the grass root workers who got out the vote. Personally, I feel that one of the major reasons for our win was the fact that our workers were volunteers. They worked because they wanted to, and they believed in the cause.

The most tangible way of showing my deep appreciation will be to represent the interests of everyone in Norfolk-

Haldimand to the very best of my ability. This I pledge to do with the help of your advice and encouragement.

As was my custom during the last Parliament, I will spend three hours on the last Saturday in each month in the Village Council Chambers in Cayuga. This will make it easier for persons living in the eastern part of Haldimand to talk with me on problems related to the Federal Government. No appointments are necessary. Just drop in. I was in Cayuga this month on Nov. 25.

As you know, the House has been called for Jan. 4 and we are all anxious for Parliament to meet in order to grapple with the problems facing Canada. Our Party is eager to offer its positive programs to Parliament and to the Canadian people.

A friendly welcome awaits the hungry and destitute at Salvation Army centres across the country, which provide nourishing meals and Christmas festivities to thousands of homeless men.

Frankly, very few livestock breeders expected this to happen quite so soon, but that it has happened has naturally created much favorable comment and will do much to relieve a congested situation.

The second annual oyster supper sponsored by the C.P. and T. Committee of the 100F of Jarvis Lodge 191 was held last Wednesday. The committee in charge was happy to receive an even greater response to its money raising enterprise than last year, which in itself was very successful, with over 300 attending.

Following the meeting of all obligations from the supper, the committee was able to purchase another wheel chair.

Probably the most significant announcement of the past week for Haldimand farmers was that concerning the lifting of the ban on Canadian meat in the U.S. market.

It is still too early to assess the full impact of this on the immediate market trends, but there is no doubt as to its effect on the market of the ensuing months.

Frankly, very few livestock breeders expected this to happen quite so soon, but that it has happened has naturally created much favorable comment and will do much to relieve a congested situation.

A few years ago Otto King made the claim that an aeroplane was flying backwards over Simcoe. Last week some Toronto residents made the claim that an aeroplane was performing similar antics over that fair city. The reason given for this phenomenon was that the plane was facing into a headwind moving faster than the speed of the plane. As a matter of fact at the time of the Simcoe incident Otto wrote a thesis on the subject for our special enlightenment.

We value this thesis very highly because someday, our airmen may be able to turn themselves hindmost toward the moon and get there quicker than the speed of time. That is when we will be able to reveal to the world that this phenomenon was first revealed to the world by Otto King away back in 1949. Of course there will have to be a strong wind blowing before the takeoff.
