

Hagersville Woman Named Commissioner

Marilyn Burke, of Hagersville, who has been associated with the Guiding Movement for many years, has been appointed commissioner for the Hagersville District. Miss Burke has been a member of the Girl Guides of Canada for 10 years and has served as both Brownie and Guide Leader, as well as being Secretary for the Commissioner at the same time.

The Hagersville District consists of Selkirk, Jarvis and Hagersville and Miss Burke will be handling the administrative duties for this district. She will be relaying information from the Warren Division level (which is Haldimand and part of Norfolk counties) to the leaders, who then pass it on to the girls, who are the most important part of the Guiding program. If a leader has difficulties, she contacts the commissioner.

Miss Burke is employed by the Spruce-dale and White Oaks schools for boys as secretary to the superintendent.

Jarvis Senior Citizens

Mrs. Nellie Stallwood in the absence of George Reu, President, who has been visiting in Detroit, relayed the message from David Wilson, Secretary of the Lions Club, of a festive party coming up for the members on Dec. 11.

The gala get-together of Senior Clubs at Port Dover with musical skits acted out by the members, was heartily enjoyed by the attending Jarvis group.

The Queens of the Kitchen for the afternoon appreciated a gift to the Club of four useful heat proof coffee-tea servers, from member Effie Huffman.

Library Week Successful In Walpole

Library week at the Walpole Rainham Public Library in Selkirk Centennial Hall was a successful event. Something of interest was planned for each age group.

This program was part of Library Development month in Ontario to create interest in libraries and the services they offer.

The Saturday morning Puppet show with Mrs. Anne Corles and Betsy Harrison from Caledonia, delighted the children. They showed how much fun can be had with simple, but attractive hand puppets.

The old fashioned Hymn Sing on Sunday provided a real treat.

The leader, Mrs. Ben Woodruff and pianist Mrs. Elmo Murphy are tops. Special music was provided by Mrs. Gayle Hare and her fine group of girls The New Day Singers.

From Monday to Friday the Library was filled with a display of oil paintings, water colours, sketches, ceramics and sculpture all done by local residents.

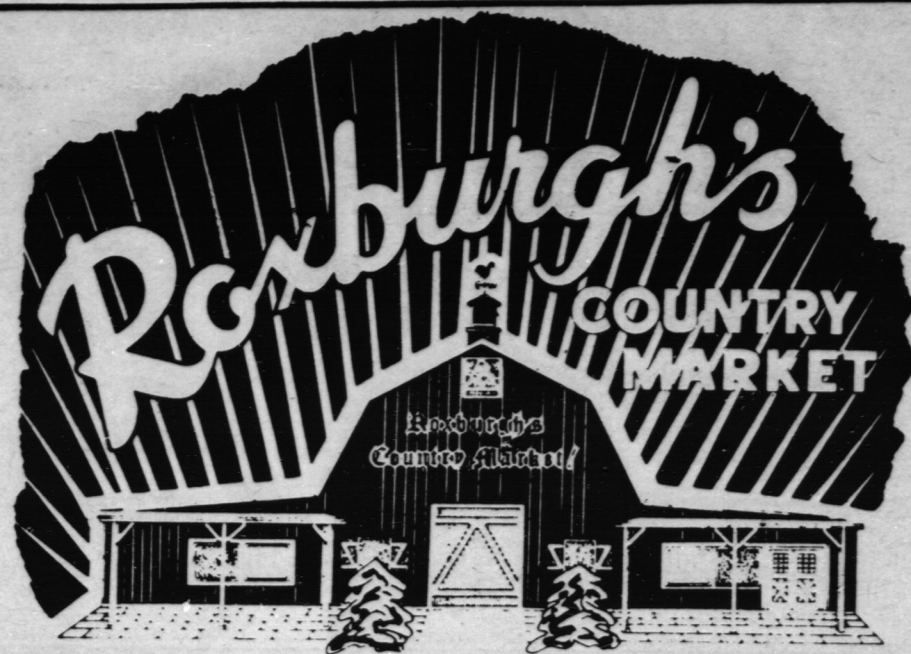

It made a fine display and demonstrated how many talented people are in this community. From Wednesday to Friday Art-ario '72, a travelling display by Ontario artists, was there.

Because of its modern work it prompted many interesting comments.

A special added attraction through the week was on the spot sketching by Linda Melhenbacher of Selkirk. Friday night the youth Rick Hughes and Mike Cain provided the entertainment.

Thanks should be said to Mrs. George Abbott the librarian, Mrs. Don Lindsay and Mrs. Harry Freeman for the time and effort they put into this special week.

Library hours: Monday 7 - 9 p.m.; Wednesday 2 - 5 p.m.; Thurs. 2 - 5 p.m.; Friday 2 - 5 p.m.

the PCs. This time, despite the first poll, Delhi switched to 1,077 votes for Mr. Knowles with 335 for Dr. Marshall.

The first Haldimand poll in was from On-ida which showed Dr. Marshall with 56 votes and Mr. Knowles with 58.

As it turned out Dr. Marshall took only his home municipality, Cayuga, and the neighboring township of North Cayuga. He polled 320 votes in Cayuga to Mr. Knowles' 269 and in North Cayuga he won 469 votes to Mr. Knowles' 341.

Mr. Knowles won in all other municipalities. Simcoe, the largest municipality in the riding, voted 3,238 for Mr. Knowles and 2,069 for Dr. Marshall.

The major strength for Mr. Knowles came out of Norfolk, as expected. Mr. Knowles is a tobacco farmer in North Walsingham Township. His own municipality gave him 1,028 votes to Dr. Marshall's 265 votes.

Norfolk County, as a whole gave Mr. Knowles 15,399 of his total votes to Dr. Marshall's 9,027.

It was much closer in Haldimand, however, with Mr. Knowles polling 5,374 votes to Dr. Marshall's 4,681.

The advance poll gave Mr. Knowles 547 votes and Dr. Marshall a total of 447 votes.

The New Democratic Party's strength came mainly from Norfolk where 2,388 votes were cast for Mr. Pos. In Haldimand, Mr. Pos was able to gather only 698 votes. The advance poll gave the NDP 39 votes.

The Social Credit candidate David Mallory, who entered the race late and did little campaigning, the vote was 260 in Norfolk and 78 in Haldimand. The advance poll gave him an additional four votes.

Popular knit fabrics are not difficult to launder if you use a borax-based laundry additive and follow simple instructions.

Knits really machine washable

READY to wear collections every season show knits increasing in popularity for both men's and women's clothes. Designers find their combination of good looks, comfort and easy care functional for today's active life. Even the most conservative man probably has a pair of knit slacks in his wardrobe for casual wear.

Most of the new knits are polyester or wool, and specially designed to be machine washable. The high cost of these durable garments has caused many people to shy away from laundering them at home, even when manufacturer's instructions specify machine washing. But washing does get the dirt out and colours will stay bright and clear if these instructions are followed.

For machine-washable polyester knits, close all zippers and fasteners, and empty pockets. Pre-treat stains with a borax-based product such as Borateem; for grease stains use an aerosol pre-spotter. Turn slacks or pleated garments inside out to preserve the crease.

Wash for about six minutes in warm water with your usual soap or detergent and the recommended quantity of Borateem. Fabric softener added to the final rinse cycle helps eliminate static cling.

Either remove garments from the washer halfway through the spin cycle and hang up when slightly wet, straightening seams and cuffs, or dryer dry at the low heat or permanent press setting.

Machine washable wool knits are just appearing this Fall. Exhaustive testing by the Wool Bureau has given us non-shrinking, non-stretching, non-felting wool which can be machine washed with absolute safety. It is being marketed in Canada under the name "Superwash Wool" and bears a distinctive hangtag.

To launder machine washable wool, simple rub or brush any stains with a paste of Borateem and warm water, turn garment inside out and machine wash at a gentle setting (105 degrees F.) with soap or detergent and one-half cup of Borateem. Tumble dry, or dry flat if you prefer.

These simple guidelines will help keep your wardrobe of knits stylishly good-looking for many years. And save you plenty on drycleaning bills!

Dr. David Marshall conceded the election after about half the 193 polls were in.

He made a brief appearance at the PC headquarters to congratulate Mr. Knowles.

Dr. Marshall, who conducted a fast-paced campaign, said he felt the voting would go the way it did while he was out canvassing during the last few days of the campaign.

He said tobacco was at the centre of the campaign and felt the voting was a reaction to the government's policies on tobacco.

Dr. Marshall's campaign manager Wally Anderson said supporters had worked hard during the campaign. "We had an eager team and everyone worked as hard as they could," he said.

He said Dr. Marshall "exemplifies the top quality candidate we need to attract to government."

In Port Dover at the New Democratic Party headquarters, candidate Ede Pos said he was "not really" disappointed with the results, which gave his party 3,125 votes. But, he noted "we have lots of room for improvement."

The NDP lost only slightly in the heavy turnout of voting and Mr. Pos felt that in competition with the hard driving Liberal campaign, his party fared not too badly in the riding.

David Mallory, the Social Credit candidate, who polled 342 votes, was generally pleased with the results. He had entered the campaign late and did little campaigning.

He said he had entered the campaign for the next election and to get the party name before the public.

The Socreds did not enter the 1968 campaign in the riding.

Hallowe'en

said a spokesman. Hagersville Police also reported a quiet night, with just a few incidents of egg throwing.

The force had five men on duty and there were no arrests, nor was there any damage reported.

"I'd just like to thank the young people for their terrific co-operation during Hallowe'en," said Chief Warren Burger.

There was also little visible damage in Jarvis during an also quiet night. Most of the children in the area attended the annual Hallowe'en Party at the Community Hall, sponsored by the Jarvis Lions Club.

About $200 damage was caused on the farm of Ken Mulkins, of R.R. 1 Jarvis, when vandals placed ketchup and relish in two of his tractors. The power takeoffs were also removed from two wagons. The mailbox was smashed as was a 4-H sign.
