

Waldon - Tompkins

Mr. and Mrs. Waldon

Baskets of white 'mums were used in Grace United Church for the candlelight marriage service held on Saturday, September 23, when vows were exchanged by Susan Diane Tompkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley H. Tompkins, of Nanticoke, and John Roger Waldon son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Waldon of R.R. 2 Lakefield, Ont. Rev. J.H. Vardy officiated at the double-ring ceremony; Mr. W. Challand was organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white sating gown fashioned with a stand up collar and bishop sleeves. White lace and tiny pearl buttons fell from the empire waistline to the floor, and the cathedral train was applied in lace. Her shoulder length veil was held in place with flowers. She carried a bouquet of orchids and red roses.

Margaret Smythe cousin of the bride, was maid of honor and wore a gown of shrimp color fashioned with empire waistline, rolled collar and short puffed sleeves, with white lace at waist and cuff. She carried a bouquet of white and yellow daisy 'mums. Leisa Tompkins was junior bridesmaid for her sister, her gown and bouquet being the same as the maid of honor.

David Ellis was groomsmen, and John Smythe was usher. Following the church service a wedding dance and buffet was held at the Nanticoke town hall, the bride's table being centered with a three-tier wedding cake, an candelabra. The bride's mother wore a floorlength gown of turquoise and silver polyester brocade, and corsage of pink sweetheart roses. The groom's mother wore a floorlength gown of purple and figured crepe with white carnation corsage.

Following the toasts the happy couple presented their silver engraved toasting goblets to their parents.

For a wedding trip to their new home in Gillingham, Man., the bride wore an African violet dress with brown accessories and corsage of yellow sweetheart roses.

Out of town guests were from Lakefield, Peterborough, Montreal, Burlington, Hamilton, Ancaster, Grimsby, Stoney Creek, Toronto, Brantford, Fort Erie, Sebright and Kent Bridge.

A Time To Vote

By next Tuesday morning, Oct. 31, there will be a new government in Canada and most likely it will be a Liberal government with its power curtailed by an increased Progressive Conservative representation, along with a few more seats picked up by the New Democrats.

As time narrows down to election day on Monday, the pace of an already hectic campaign grows even more frantic with the major political leaders criss-crossing the country gaining maximum exposure in the minimum of time.

But it is in Ontario and Quebec that elections are truly won or lost and the remainder of the campaign will see the leaders concentrating on these areas.

It is in Ontario and Quebec that the Conservatives hope to pick up an increased number of seats and the Liberals are fighting to hold seats they gained in the 1968 Trudeau landslide victory.

One of the more hotly contested seats in Ontario must surely be the Norfolk-Haldimand riding.

The riding bucked the Trudeaumania of four years ago and switched from a Liberal hold with Jack Roxburgh, who retired and did not stand for nomination, and voted Conservative to send Bill Knowles to Ottawa.

The Conservatives in the riding have been conducting an essentially low-key campaign, concentrating on the approachability of their candidate and his record in Parliament, even as a member of the Opposition.

The Conservatives' nomination night attracted more than 1,000 people in a show of strength for their candidate.

Some Conservative workers are quietly predicting Mr. Knowles will be returned to Ottawa with an even larger majority than in the last federal election.

If he is, it will not be because there was a lack of opposition in the riding.

Liberal candidate Dr. David Marshall has mounted a campaign that must certainly have caught the attention of the national party.

After defeats at the polls at the last federal election and the provincial election last fall, the Norfolk-Haldimand Liberals appeared somewhat demoralized. But at its nomination meeting in Jarvis a wildly enthusiastic group of supporters overwhelmingly nominated Dr. Marshall as its candidate.

And the enthusiasm has not fallen off for the Liberals' choice.

Dr. Marshall has been campaigning non-stop since nomination night and said Tuesday he felt the campaign was going extremely well.

His campaigning has attracted the support of such political luminaries as H. (Bud) Olson, Allan MacEachern and Mitchell Sharp.

Both parties attracted their leaders to the riding, with PC leader Robert Stanfield appearing twice and Mr. Trudeau once.

The New Democrats, who have not been able to muster a real show of strength in the riding, are quietly resigned to a similar fate this time around. But they keep their name before the public and their candidate Ede Pos has handled himself capably during public debate.

The Social Credit entered the race late and little has been heard from its nominee Dave Mallory.

The Record has maintained a stance of independence throughout this campaign and as the final days draw to a close, urges only that each eligible voter carefully consider the choices and then on Oct. 30 get out and vote. It is a democratic right and indeed a responsibility that should not be neglected.

The Jarvis Lions Club decided on Tuesday night to sell tickets on a car to be given away at the annual Turkey Draw early in December as a means of raising funds to meet their original objective of $5,000 toward the proposed new community hall in Jarvis.

A car was given away last year at the same event, which proved to be a successful project, and it was therefore decided to do it over again.

The tickets will sell for $10 each and will be limited to 300 in number. The Club feels that in selling the tickets it will mean, win, lose or draw, a $10 donation to the Community Hall and possibly a new car as a reward for the gesture.

TO PARLIAMENT HILL - Written for David. (May be sung to the tune of "On Top of Old Smokey")

Now come all young voters
And listen to me,
Elect David Marshall
To serve Federally.

He's successful at Law
And Medicine, too
He'll succeed in this riding
For me and for you.

Now come all young voters
(I'm sure you'll agree)
Never place your affection
On an old willow tree.

The roots will deceive you
The leaves they will die
You'll all be forsaken
And never know why.

On October the 30th
Elect Dave to the Hill
Just answer by saying
"Of course, I will!"

With P.E.T. and P.M.
And Dave as M.P.
You'll never regret it
When you vote LIBERAL.

Now comes all young voters
And oldsters, as well
Vote DAVID MARSHALL

Listeners to the Farm Broadcast over CBL, Toronto, on Tuesday noon learned something about turkey production from one of the foremost authorities in the business.

Albert Pond, of the Pond Turkey Farm, at Jarvis, was interviewed on the program by Bob Graham, who was substituting for Norm Garriock, whose voice is familiar to all listeners to the regular noon day farm radio broadcast.

Anniversary

Services Held

St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Main St. S. observed its 92nd Anniversary on Sunday Oct. 22. Guest minister for the special service was Rev. T. M. Bailey from South Gate Presbyterian Church in Hamilton.

Observing anniversary celebrations also was the Hagersville United Church when guest minister for the morning worship was Rev. Peter McKellar, minister of the South-West Norfolk Pastoral Charge.

The service in the evening for this 103rd anniversary was in the form of a Hymn Sing Service, with the senior choir and the congregation joining together in song, worship and praise to God.

Those choir members who assisted in the musical worship service with solos, duets, and quartet arrangements were Mrs. John Van Loon, Mrs. Richard Laurie, Mrs. Don Smith, Mrs. Alton Esselment, Mr. Ivan Fleming and Oliver Sayer. The members of the Junior Choir under the leadership of Mary White, and Mrs. E. McConachie sang two anthems at the morning service.

Baptism

Observed

The Sacrament of Baptism was observed at the morning worship service of the Hagersville United Church, on Sun., Oct. 15. Rev. Martin Rule, minister of the congregation, welcomed into the family of the Church, through the Sacrament of Baptism the following children - Rene Kathleen Campbell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Campbell of London, Ont., and Angela Lynne Winger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Winger, Hagersville, whose grandmother, Mrs. Don Smith was a member of the quartet which sang "Little Lamb, God Bless Thee."

The forthcoming bus trip to the Royal Winter Fair was also mentioned, with Mrs. John VanLoon announcing the tickets were now available for sale.

HAGERSVILLE Highlights

Support Given To Centre And Arena

Hopefully the Indian people on the Six Nations Reserve should have a new community centre and arena by Christmas 1972. Recently overwhelming support in a poll was given to a proposal by the Arena Committee to borrow $180,000 from the band council.

The five-man arena committee require the money to finish construction on the $270,000 project.

Coun. Sidney Henhawk said recently that 286 people voted in favor of using band funds, while 156 voted against the proposal. Some heated controversy has followed the committee's original request for the money, therefore the band council declined to make the decision on its own.

and called for a referendum.

The opponents of the move for a loan were led by Coun. Leonard Staats, who said that the arena committee is breaking its original pledge to raise the funds itself.

Mr. Staats said he doubted if the band would ever get the money back, and further argues that the band's resources would quickly be depleted if council backed every major project that was presented to it.

Firemen Called

Hagersville Volunteer Firemen have responded to several calls in recent weeks, with no extensive damage being done at either locality where the fires originated.

On Thursday, Oct. 5 at approximately 6 p.m., a call was received from McKelvie Automotive Co., Ltd., at 33 Main St. S., Hagersville. Here the situation was quickly remedied when the hydro was turned off at the switch to the outdoor sign where a ballast had caught fire in the large electrical advertising sign at the front of the building.

Firemen were called on Sunday morning, at 10.35, Oct. 15, to the Canadian Gypsum Company on the Third Line, where an overheated oil furnace was causing some concern and excitement. This fire had been extinguished when the fire trucks arrived at the scene.

The meeting was planned by Marg and Mel Henderson, and Rhoda Ann and Peter Malcolm, who served a variety of doughnuts, with coffee and tea at the close of the program.

Vice-President Bob and Barb Guest presided over the meeting, when much discussion arose regarding ways and means of making money for the Triple F projects. It was decided to once again have the Talent Money which was a great success previously, also perhaps another Auction Sale, Pancake Supper, Craft Fair, and one of the members volunteering to have a gigantic Hoss in her home at a later date, sometime prior to Christmas.

The forthcoming bus trip to the Royal Winter Fair was also mentioned, with Mrs. John VanLoon announcing the tickets were now available for sale.
