Explorers Elect Officers

Mid-term election of officers for the Hagersville Explorers Girls was held on Wednesday afternoon, January 17 at the weekly meeting. Despite an absence of many members, due to illness, there was an attendance of 15 members. Vice-President Karen Esselment opened the meeting, due to the absence of the President, Cindy Atkinson, after which minutes were read by Secretary Susan Willard. Roll call was answered by each member stating what they are going to "try to do better" in 1973.

Leader, Mrs. Rule read an interesting story about two brothers; one had much patience to do things well, but the other had to learn with difficulty the necessity of patience in doing everyday tasks to the best advantage. Collection was received and totalled $1.35. Many items of business were discussed.

Several forthcoming events were planned. Next week we will have another "cooking, and preparing supper" meeting and then all will join in eating the prepared meal in the

Triple F Plans Arts And Crafts Show

The committee of Gladys and Alvin Hewitt and Jean and Robert Gedy planned an exciting evening of bowling at the Hagersville Check-R-Bowl Lanes for last Saturday.

Following several exciting games of "batting with the pins," the entire group of more than 30 returned to the parlour of the United Church. Presenting suitable awards to bowlers Ted Heinrichs (high score), and Mel Henderson (low score), Jean Gedy expressed congratulations on behalf of the Group.

President Ted, proceeded with much business open for discussion. An opening devotional was presented by Gladys Hewitt and Bob Gedy. Gladys read a most appropriate article written by the late Duke of Windsor and closed the Worship service with prayer following the portion of Scripture read by Bob Gedy.

Treasurer, Margaret VanLoon, gave a detailed report of funds presently on hand also reported the large sum of 22¢ was profited at the Christmas Family night in December.

Secretary, Margaret Lougheed, together with reading of the previous minutes of several meetings, read a letter confirming the trip planned by the Triple F to a Synagogue in Hamilton. The date of this interesting venture is to be March 16. The committee in charge of this March program is Julie and Rev. Rule and Joanne and Clair Dennis.

Convener of the April Arts and Crafts Show, Marie Hewitt, gave an up-to-date report of the work and investigating she and the committee have done concerning this new venture of the Club. It is hoped anyone definitely interested in demonstrating their Arts and Crafts will contact her and make this a "first-time success" for Hagersville Triple F Group.

Alton Esselment agreed to approach a number of people concerning door prizes for the event because it was felt by the committee that these special attractions would add interest.

Much discussion took place regarding the Pancake Supper in March (Shrove Tuesday) and the volunteer convener of this annual money-making project of Triple F are Mel Henderson and Alton Esselment - supported wholeheartedly by the President.

Prefer Policing By Mounties

Chief Councillor Richard Isaac and Councillor Sid Henhawk, two members of the Six Nations elected council and other members of the association, met federal officials recently to discuss the formation of an Indian police force. The future of an Indian Police Force protecting reserves in Ontario may rest on the outcome of a meeting of the Association of Iroquois and Allied Indians at the Oneida Reserve near London.

Reporting to the elected council, Councillor Henhawk said the meeting gave Indians an opportunity to present some of their views to the task force investigating policing on the reservations. The task force is still in the preliminary stages of its study, he said. Councillor Henhawk said most of the Indians felt the force should be under the direction of the RCMP.

Further, he stated, the difference between RCMP and OPP protection on the Six Nations' Reserve has been the "simple fact that the OPP are 11 miles off the reserve while the RCMP were right in the village." Provincial police began providing protection on the reserve in 1968.

"There are only 200 to 300 residents on some reserves, therefore one constable is enough, but here, we're in a different situation which is going to involve at least eight to 10 policemen," he said. The Six Nations' Reserve has approximately 5,000 residents. The task force pointed out policing in Ontario and Quebec has become a provincial responsibility, however, said Chief Isaac.

C.W.L. Plan Blitz

At the C.W.L. meeting in January, plans were discussed regarding the "Blitz" by the C.W.L. and friends of the Ontario Heart Foundation. This one-day campaign will be held on February 5, (weather permitting) in the district of Hagersville and surrounding area. Anyone who wishes to make a donation may do so at the Royal Bank, King Street West, Hagersville, where a receipt for income tax purposes will be given.

Two films were shown by Mr. and Mrs. D. Stewart, Co-ordinators of the Ontario Heart Foundation, Hamilton. These films proved interesting and informative and stressed the research being carried out.

False Alarm

Monday afternoon at approximately 2:45, a false alarm was sounded at the Hagersville Fire Hall. The reason for the sounding of the siren was that the workmen of the Bell Telephone Company shorted the alarm cable system while working in the Village.

Following much discussion, the meeting found that both radio and television do play an important part in our lives.

Not only do they have an influence on our thinking, they also set much of our life pattern because people plan their days' activities to be able to see and hear their favourite programs.

Therefore, it was decided it would be extremely important that everyone accept their responsibility of letting the CBC know what they want to see and hear.

Some points brought out at the Rural Teaching Seminar were that from kindergarten to high school graduation, children spend 11 to 12 thousand hours in the classroom and 22 thousand hours watching T.V. Preschoolers use more time in T.V. watching than it takes to earn a B.A. in university.

According to a Psychology professor, the aggressive ideas picked up from some T.V. shows are retained and may rise to the surface in a critical period of anger, frustration etc. to influence our behaviour. Most family T.V. shows create an

TV And Radio Theme For Rural Learning

Does listening to radio and watching T.V. effect our lives?

This was the question for discussion at a Rural Learning Association meeting held in co-operation with the education Committee of the Norfolk Federation of Agriculture at Simcoe last week.

Glen Powell of CBC radio and Frank Nicholson of CBC T.V. presented some of the views of the CBC and what it considers to be its responsibility to the Canadian people.

It became evident that there are many different situations across Canada. Here in Southern Ontario we have many radio and T.V. stations whereas in much of the rest of the country, there may be only one or two stations in an area to choose from.

Mr. Nicholson advised farmers to get in touch with a network for a rebuttal when they hear or read of a news release which is detrimental to the farming industry.

"Point of View" disappeared from "radio noon" because of lack of participation by the average farmer. It had become a "Point of View" by professionals.

Following lunch we were divided into groups for discussion. Most of the groups felt T.V. did not dominate the evenings. It causes some conflict because of unrealistic impression of family life.

Programs with extensive advertising are shown during the "prime time" of 8 to 10 p.m. when the largest percentage of people watch T.V. It is the aim of the network to reach as many people as possible because advertising finances the program and they do not really care what type of program is shown. At this time, most people may prefer to watch something relaxing rather than educational.

Mr. Powell and Mr. Nicholson felt farmers as a whole should work to create a new image-emphasizing farming as an important part of our economy and thereby erasing the image of criers.

A few asked if commercials could be eliminated. Without them it would cost $2 per person to finance the CBC network alone.

Also we learn of new products through advertising. Eliminating advertising would also greatly to our unemployed population.

However, it would not be feasible for CBC to be totally educational. We need some programs for relaxing and a variety broadens our outlook. An educational program was defined as though provoking and adding to our knowledge.

Some points brought out at the Rural Teaching Seminar were that from kindergarten to high school graduation, children spend 11 to 12 thousand hours in the classroom and 22 thousand hours watching T.V. Preschoolers use more time in T.V. watching than it takes to earn a B.A. in university.
