

Friends N' Neighbours

by Jessie Miller

Dr. D. L. Pulfrey from the Electrical Engineering Department at the University of British Columbia in Vancouver recently spent a weekend with Dr. and Mrs. F. G. Hathorn in Jarvis.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Scott, who have resided on Talbot St. East for the past few years, moved on Saturday to their new home in Port Dover.

The many friends of Mrs. Harry Belbeck will be pleased to know that she has returned to her home after spending some time in Norfolk General Hospital, Simcoe.

Miss Grace Wride of Brantford spent the weekend with her sister Mrs. Elgin Jaques.

Dr. and Mrs. A. A. Lyons have returned from a holiday in the Caribbean.

Mrs. John Hodgson of Grimsby spent Saturday with relatives in Jarvis.

Last Friday night through the kindness of W. H. Brown, president of Shouth Walpole Home and School, a good crowd of parents and students enjoyed the Walt Disney film "Now you see him" and "Now you don't." Admission is charged at the rate of 75¢ for adults and 25¢ per child. Mr. Brown is able to pick up the film, bring it up and return it to Toronto. The small profit is kept at the school.

Cancer Can Be Beaten

by Jessie Miller

The Treasurer of the Jarvis Cancer Society, Mrs. Andrew Wester, his and Secretary, Mrs. George Anderson met at the home of President, Mrs. Harry Preston to make plans for Cancer month which comes in April and features the Daffodil as the symbol of Hope.

Jarvis holds a Daffodil Tea and Bake sale as well as sending invitations to neighbouring groups asking their attendance and donations, and notifying them of the progress made from year to year.

We are pleased to report that Dennis Craddock, who has been in Henderson General Hospital for a knee operation, is at home again and up and around; although he is still on crutches.

Bert Fallis who returned home from Hagersville Hospital was again admitted last Thursday and taken to Simcoe Hospital on Friday. We are pleased to report that he is improving.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Linklater, Mrs. Ben Johnson and Myrtle spent Sunday afternoon in Dunnville.

Congratulations to Mr. J. W. Parsons who celebrated his 81st birthday on Monday, March 12. Mr. and Mrs. William Evans of Hamilton visited at the Parsons home on Saturday evening and Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Rouse of Tillsonburg were guests on Monday. Mr. Parsons belongs to an old Jarvis family and has spent his life in this neighborhood.

Mrs. Stanley Sheppard of Chesapeake is helping out in the Selkirk Library while the librarians, Mrs. Don Lindsay and Mrs. George Abbot are on holidays.

On Thursday morning, ladies from the Chesapeake Brethren in Christ Church Sewing Circle, Mrs. Lanson Jones, Mrs. Clayton Weaver, Mrs. Arthur Pepper (of Jarvis) and Mrs. Earl Sider accompanied Mrs. Glen Lofthouse to Wainfleet.

Jarvis Cancer Society was organized in April 1961, thus having twelve successful years of activity. Last year this Branch raised more than $1,000.00 during the month of April.

Because Jarvis is so near to the Simcoe Unit, it is affiliated with Norfolk instead of Dunnville and attends the Simcoe meetings which come up from time to time. The local branch meets quarterly and Norfolk Unit each month on the third Monday evening at the Little Red Door, Simcoe.

The Spring Tea is slated for April 14.

W.I. To Adopt Child

by Jessie Miller
Secretary, Mrs. Carl Jaques entertained the March meeting of Jarvis Women's Institute at her home last Thursday afternoon when the theme stressed was St. Patrick's Day.

The President, Mrs. Robert Smuck, opened the meeting in the usual manner. The Roll Call was "An Irish Table Favor." Members answered for three meetings which covered attendance for two special gatherings when there had been no roll call because of visiting branches. The minutes from February covered the approval of adopting a northern institute child and the sponsoring of a delegate to the officer's conference at Waterloo University.

Boxes sent to the sick were noted and notes of thanks were received. The Caledonia Fair prize list was received and Jarvis will again enter an exhibit. This year the project will be "Jane Goes to School." Mrs. Smuck, Mrs. Jaques and Mrs. Leonard Church were named with privilege of adding to their committee for the exhibit.

A donation will be made toward the retarded Children's Summer Camp. The Federation of Agriculture Daffodil luncheon at Kohler was announced for April 11. Mrs. Ada Prichard of Hamilton will be the speaker. Tickets must be applied for from Mrs. Robert Doughty before April 1.

April 9 is the date for a Norfolk - Haldimand Institute get together in Delhi Hall. The A.C.W.W. was announced for October 18, 1974, "A World To Share," to be held in Australia.

Mrs. Thomas Oldham kindly invited the next meeting to her home. Please note change of date - Wednesday April 4 at 2 p.m. The two women will provide the lunch. Mrs. Oldham Sr. will give the motto.

Mrs. Leonard Church reported tentative plans for the bus trip on June 12. The St. Lawrence Starch Co. and Science Centre will be visited.

The Spring Rally for West Haldimand was announced for Springvale on Monday, March 12 at 1:30 p.m. at the United Church. Jarvis is to plan the program for May 1973.

Mrs. Ted Harris convened the program and opened with a seasonal poem.

Mrs. Ben Johnson gave a splendid interpretation of the Motto "Don't itch for something for which you are not prepared to scratch." She stated that the human race had found it necessary to work in order to survive. Labour savers have made manual labor almost obsolete. Man's reach must exceed his grasp. All Canadians under 45 have lived their lives with someone to rely on - Unions, government or relatives. You can not bring about prosperity by discouraging thrift. You cannot help others permanently by doing for them what they can do for themselves.

Mrs. Harris conducted two contests. The Irish contest was won by Mrs. R. A. Miller. The guessing contest was won by Mrs. Fred Roulston.

Mrs. Elgin Jaques moved the vote of thanks to the hostess, lunch and program committee.

Jarvis Lions Hold Dinner

by Jack Cooke

The Jarvis Lions held their regular dinner meeting in the Community Hall on Monday, March 12th. The Catholic Women's League served a delicious chicken dinner.

Several members are vacationing in the south. Lions Klaas Druyff and Ed Stire are in Florida, Lions Bruce Miller, Ray Montague and Jack Phibbs are in California, and Lion Ted Montague is in Nassau. It appears that vacations were in order after the Minstrel Show.

First Vice-President Eugene Montague acted as chairman in the absence of Lion Chief Bruce.

Secretary Dave Wilson was called on to give a real Scottish rendition of "Roamin' in the Gloamin'." The Irish present were advised that they had better have a song ready for the next meeting since it's close to St. Patrick's Day.

Although net profits are not yet available from the Minstrel Show, there was 1,440 paid admissions for a total of $2,484.00. Pop sales netted $49.97 and candy sales netted $411.00. The candy was donated by Lion members. Lion Bob Lysch stated that there was candy left over and that it would be sent to Grandview Lodge.

The Grade XIII students at Hagersville Secondary School are setting up a Bursary in Memory of Jim Walker. The club donated $75.00 toward this.

Lion Bud Elliott introduced Lion Peter Killey, a member of Waterford Lions Club and a representative of Labatt's Brewing Company. He showed a film called "Pay Dirt Angling" which covered a fishing trip through the North West Territories.

Lion Nick Montague thanked the speaker and presented him with a Certificate of Appreciation and a token gift.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Madam Editor:

At the meeting last Thursday evening in the Haldimand Agriculture Centre, Kohler, a number of municipal officials of the county were in attendance as members of a panel to discuss the present procedure of determining land use in our county - including severances and permission to build etc. It has become evident to me, there is an extreme need for farmers, in particular, to really become concerned regarding their lot in the future of our county.

Since it is said, everyone but the farmer is involved in the planning use of the farmers land, I wonder Madam Editor if your newspaper could be used to help the farmer get into the act. Because, it seems to be the usual case with land use planning that some specialist is hired to set up a plan for an area who have their future lives to be lived there.

It so happens I just do not think there is anyone who is that all fired smart to be able to plan someone else's future without at least asking them what they would like to see in the future.

There may well be those who don't agree with me, but I believe farmers are human beings and have the right to be treated as such. True, there have been meetings held with what some describe as little response. But, let's look at the situation. There have been suggestions made and questions asked for peoples' opinions, but how can they respond? I have heard many people say they don't feel able to express their views before a group.

Many prominent farmers have told me they find it awfully hard to express their ideas in a letter. And even if this is done on a personal basis, only one person has gotten any information or expressed an opinion. I believe many of us can have an opinion. But, without the total understanding of the situation, we are not able to do any really constructive thinking.

It is also my conviction that all the reasoning power people have is going to be needed to ensure farmers their rightful place in the future.

There are suggestions of there being some areas reserved for agriculture. If so, should there be compensation for these people? and if so, how? In areas that have been restricted for future development, how do these people live and farm in the interim period?

What about the farmers increased liability with greater numbers of urban-minded people in the area?

What about farmers' use of roads under heavy traffic conditions, etc., etc., etc.?

So I wonder Madam Editor, if your paper could be used to help people sort out these matters, express their opinions, ask questions and play a better role in their own future.

I believe if questions are asked, our municipal councillors and other officials should be willing to answer them and respond to opinions in your paper.

For the farmers who do not feel they can express themselves in writing or do not have the time, I am as near as their telephone.

Yours truly,
Roy Hagan.

240 Ate Pancakes

A committee comprised of Mel Henderson, Alton Esselment and President Ted Heinrichs did an excellent job in convening the annual Triple F Pancake Supper.

This event was held in the Christian Education Wing of the Hagersville United Church, on Shrove Tuesday, March 6. Supper was served from 5 to 7:30 p.m. and it is estimated at least 240 persons were served. A profit of $100 was made - more than the previous year for this project.

The Wasted Billions

THE WASTED BILLIONS

The United States has just announced that it has spent more than $26 billion on the manned space program in the past 15 years, and that it plans to spend a further $7 billion during the coming five years. Add to this the billions spent on manned space programs and space research by other great powers such as the Soviet Union, Britain, France, Japan and China in recent years.

Then add to these figures annual costs of new weapons systems and defense generally. Although it is a rough estimate, military experts now believe that the annual total has passed $250 billion and will soon reach $300 billion. Nobody pretends that either research into the universe through which our planet hurtles, or national defense are not valid expenditures - given the conditions of human society today. What can be questioned, however, are the astronomical amounts.

Take the fairly conservative figure of $250 billion a year for defense on a world-wide basis. That is almost five times the annual gross national product of India, where about 560,000,000 people live.

Because of poor rains, India is short of food and is planning to pay between $4 million and $5 million to import grain. Annual costs for weapons and defense would pay for these shipments 50,000 times!

The world's priorities are out of line with reality. Most of the world's nations no longer need nuclear weapons. They need more food, better housing, a higher quality of life. And the mysteries of the universe are far less important than cleaning up our polluted air and water. Much still needs to be done on our troubled earth during this troubled century. Let us begin by diverting urgently needed funds from the weapons industry into more useful, more lasting endeavors.

STRAINED MELODY

As I walked down the road a few people I passed, each person whistling a different tune. Some tunes were wondrous to me, so I attempted to whistle them myself. The beauty of each note had vanished when they came from my lips. On I wished and began to whistle a tune of my own. People I met on the way stopped their work to gaze at me. After I had passed I could hear a few strained notes of my melody.

Library Board Appointed

Jarvis Council named four members to its newly formed non-operating Library Board at Tuesday night's meeting.

Mrs. H. Nigh, Mrs. D. Hilton, Mrs. J. Doughty and Mrs. E. Reeve were appointed for a one year term each. Reeve William Austin will be the fifth member on the Board.

Council passed a by-law for the formation of a Board at a special meeting February 20.

The duties of this board will be to apply for a provincial grant and turn any money received over to the Hagersville Library Board.

Council agreed at February's regular meeting that any provincial grant received would be turned over to support the Hagersville Library in return for immediate library service to Jarvis residents.

They made this decision after learning Jarvis was eligible for a $650 grant from the province, providing it met certain conditions.

The necessary requirements have now been met with the passing of a by-law indicating support for a library and the organizing of a five-man board.

Wise, Unwise and Otherwise

by The Old Owl

1,000 Years Ago

Have you ever wondered what the world was like a thousand years ago, in A.D. 973? Let us look back for a minute and see. Of course we are thinking only of Europe and Asia, the Americas were not yet discovered.

First, the things they did not have. They had no electricity, no steam power, no daily paper (only a few could read anyway). Naturally the by-powers of these things they did not have either. One thing they did have was an excellent system of roads, built by the Romans, quite a few of which are still being travelled today. In the East the Eastern Roman Empire, centred at Constantinople, maintained a fairly high civilization. They had an efficient standing army, a competent civil service, subsidized schools and hospitals and the Greek Orthodox Church fostered literature and art.

North of them, however, the Slavs, Hungarians, Poles etc. were pressing in from the East, an invasion by savages who had never been civilized. The Hungarians got as far west as Burgundy (France) but were beaten back by the German Emperor Otto 1. They settled down and adopted the Roman Catholic form of Christianity, as did many of the other Eastern invaders.

The greater part of what we consider Western Europe was divided between scores of larger or smaller semi-independent states, ruled by a duke, a baron, sometimes a bishop. Those people whose overlord was a bishop were better off, as a rule, than those ruled by a layman. Europe 1,000 years ago was largely forests with patches of civilization around the overlord's castle. In the forests, all kinds of wild animals flourished.

The real high point of civilization was the Moorish Empire of southern Spain and North Africa. Arab physicians were famed throughout the Western world. Their land was well fertilized and produced good crops and they exported goods as far away as China. They were very fond of music and were excellent horsemen. They were liberal in their rule also; their Capital (Cordoba) had 700 mosques and many Christian Churches and Jewish Synagogues. They also had a University that taught mathematics, astronomy, theology, medicine and law. But there were no universities in Western Europe in 973 A.D.
