working at the plant permanently will be highly trained engineers, technicians, and operators who continue intensive training programs despite their level of education. An engineer would require at least four years of university; a technician at least three years of community college; and an operator at least graduation from Grade 12. The Operator - in - Training program for high school graduates is an intensive training period of classroom and practical learning lasting two years.

Nine Operators - in - Training were hired from the Haldimand - Norfolk area for Nanticoke G.S. in 1972. They join others from across Ontario in several plants where they are expected to study on their own in addition to their regular shifts and classroom studies at the plant. If they really apply themselves, they could complete their examinations to the First Class Stationary Engineer level in five years. They would really have to work at it though.

the community awareness of industry's effect on the awkward balance between man and nature.

A network of air quality stations, established in 1970, maintain a constant watch of the operations of the plant and its interaction with the weather in the area. A network of 22 lead peroxide candles mounted in small grey boxes on utility poles for a radius of 20 miles around Nanticoke, monitor the amount of sulphur in the atmosphere. Seven small semi-portable weather stations monitor the quantities of gases in the air, wind direction and velocity, the types of precipitation and hours of sunlight, continuously. The information is assessed by the Department of the Environment.

The Nanticoke Project also refers to a study of the effects of warm water on Lake Erie under Dr. John Kelso, Department of Natural Resources researcher. Ontario Hydro, Texaco and Stelco, contributed $200,000 for the first three years of this study of the area of the lake between Peacock Point and Long Point. So far, his studies go a long way to disproving claims that Lake Erie is either ailing or dead.

Man and time do bring changes to the area of Nanticoke; if Hydro has its way they will all be changes to benefit the people near Hydro's Nanticoke G.S.

ville and Sherbrooke, but have increased in Hagersville, Jarvis and Haldimand, he said. The Board has no control over the apportionment because the percentages are decided by the Provincial assessment department.

"Since there is a net increase in assessment for the County, the individual mill rates should remain reasonably constant. Therefore the individual education tax bill for most home owners will be quite similar to 1972."

The total elementary school levy is $1,196,784. However, a 1972 over - levy of $81,965 will be rebated to the municipalities and thus reduce the levy requirement to $1,114,819.

Likewise with the secondary school levy, $62,571 will be rebated to the municipalities to reduce the levy requirement from $1,159,428 to $1,096,857.

Education levies to local municipalities for 1972 and 1973 show: Jarvis, 50,742 (72) - 59,921 (73); Walpole, 319,791 - 320,078; Hagersville, 137,985 - for unemployment insurance benefits, and then they refused to work longer."

It is at this point benefit control officers should have intervened, he said. "As a result of the refusal of these people to continue employment, apples in the orchards of Norfolk County were left on trees as winter approached. These men and women could not be induced to leave their unemployment insurance benefits and go out into the fields and orchards to work."

"This is the time the control officers should have been on the job," he stressed.

Fellowship Evening

Fifty members of Cheapside United Church met at the Nanticoke Manse on Friday evening for a Crokinole Party in aid of the newly formed Junior Choir.

The evening was spent in fellowship and games. During the lunch hour a beautiful birthday cake was presented to Mr. Creaser who was celebrating his birthday on that day and mention was made of others whose birthdays were near at hand, namely Lloyd Fess, Harold Marshall and Delores Whitford. A poem composed by Claude Nie was read. All enjoyed a pleasant evening of fellowship.

Children's Aid Society Holds Annual In Jarvis

by Jessie Miller

Dr. A. A. Lyons, President of Haldimand County Children's Aid Society welcomed 160 directors, friends and members to a banquet in the Jarvis Community Centre on the evening of March 21. He expressed himself as particularly pleased to see Local Directors from neighboring societies and social services, members of the Norfolk - Haldimand Health Unit, members of other branches of the Ministry of Community services - representatives of both the departments of correction and education. He quoted educator and philosopher John Devey "What the best and wisest parent wants for his own child, that must the community want for all its children" and used these words as the centre of interest for the evening. He stated that the Children's Aid Society is not the Local Director and his staff, nor the Board of Directors, but a formal association of men and women under legal charter and the Board of Directors who must fulfill the obligation to administer the trust imposed upon it. This action is secondary to the authority of the group here assembled at the Annual Meeting.

And thirdly in the scheme of operation is the Local Director and his staff appointed and paid to execute with careful judgment the intimate and onerous duties required.

Thanking all who had in their respective roles given of time and talents to aid and support the Society during 1972, he called on Father Sweeney to say Grace. The Rev. Father later thanked the guest speaker.

Following the delightful dinner, Dr. Lyons introduced the head table guests - Father Sweeney, Walpole Reeve Gordon and Mrs. Miller, the Honorable James and Mrs. Allen, Guest speaker Douglas Finlay, Dr. and Mrs. Lyons, Dr. and Mrs. Austin, Treasurer E. J. Besley and Local Director John McGregor and Mrs. McGregor.

Mr. McGregor introduced the many honored guests. Those named locally were Honorary Life members Hon. J. N. Allen, Rev. K. N. Brue-ton and Mrs. R. A. Miller, Former South Walpole Principal, Mr. Disher who is now principal of Central School Danville, with Mrs. Disher and his parents, Garfield and Mrs. Disher, Dr. David and Mrs. Marshall, Mrs. Ethel Sisler, Cayuga, Dr. Villavarian, Fisherville, Mrs. Scott, secretary and other members of Norfolk - Haldimand public health unit. Many other representatives from Haldimand, Norfolk and Brant, too numerous to list, but all active in social work were also introduced.

E. J. Besley, Secretary Treasurer, read the minutes of last year's annual meeting with motion to amend the by-law reducing the number of C.A.S. Board members from 20 to 17 for 1973 and to 15 in 1974. These are to be elected at the Annual Meeting yearly. This motion was sustained.

Mr. Besley also moved adoption of the Financial statement as audited by Watters, Savage, Horne and Ronson of Brantford. They are to be retained for the coming year.

Local Director McGregor drew attention to the annual cost per child in care from $538.00 in 1966 to $1,522.05 in 1972. This is shared by the Province of Ontario and the County of Haldimand. There has been a steady decrease in the numbers of children in care; discharges have exceeded admissions by 41.3% over the period from 1966 to 1972. This at the rate of rise in cost, represents a saving of approximately $100,000.

Resignations from Board of Directors Rev. J. Roberts and Mr. A. Friesen and from the staff Mrs. J. P. Cobain B.A. and Mr. R.W. Lancashire B.A. were noted.

The Honorable J. N. Allen spoke briefly and called on Walpole Reeve Gordon Miller to present the report of the nominating committee in the absence of W. Hart.

Nominations which were accepted were as follows: President, Dr. A. Lyons; 1st vice-president, Hans Oppen; Vice-president, A. Berghagen, Secretary - Treasurer, E. J. Besley; executive member, E. V. Dunnett, W. Hart, D. Peirson, J. K. Young and G. Miller, appointed by County Council, constituted the balance of the Executive Committee in accordance with the Child Welfare Act of 1965.

Directors are Rev. J. A. Sweeney, Mrs. Harold Johnson, Mrs. Eric Johnson, Mrs. G. Fuller, Mrs. A. Loft-house, Mr. K. Miller, Mr. H. Slimon and Mr. G. Mehlenbacher. Staff: Local Director - John L. MacGregor; Social Workers - Mrs. V. L. Gibson B.A., Mr. Paul Regan, B.A. Office Staff: Mrs. B. McCullagh, Secretary; Mrs. G. Krick, Bookkeeper.

Mrs. Harold Johnson thanked the Jarvis Presbyterian Couples Club for the bountiful and delicious banquet provided. The Club president, Mrs. Rex Chambers responded.

Dr. Lyons introduced the guest speaker Doug Finlay of Toronto who is Senior Co-ordinator, children's services, Mental Health Division, Ministry of Health, Toronto. He has his B.A. from Toronto and is a graduate of Social work U. of B.C. He has done Post Graduate in Sociology at Toronto University, Boston Psychoanalytic Institute, Advanced case work, Hartford, Conn.

Mr. Finlay proved to be an outstanding and entertaining speaker, who spiced his points with humor. In the case of mentally disturbed children, he said they should be treated as children and not as people apart. No one is alike no matter how seriously disturbed they are.

Speaking about his training in Boston (1950-51), Mr. Finlay said a method was used which provided all kinds of toys, dolls, and doll houses for the children. They were expected to play with these toys but the children did not want these things because they wanted to play in their own way he said. As you work with these disturbed children, you learn and change as do the children. The world over everyone is different - each has a personality all his own. He said never in his life has he felt he knew so much as when he graduated from the University of British Columbia. He has steadily learned from kids.

Communication must be based on feelings of respect and understanding, Mr. Finlay said. If you want an honest opinion on any subject just ask a kid.

Mr. Finlay cited one example where an over abundant supply of cookies was used to gain the confidence and trust of disturbed children and to provide them with a bit of security.

To succeed with children, one must be non-professional and "down to earth" to get next to them. A case worker must keep his own values while appreciating the child's outlook. Emotional security is the main thing in dealing with and restoring a sense of worth in the disturbed patients, he said.

The Rev. Sweeney closed the meeting with words of appreciation. Dancing followed with music by the Basil Young Orchestra.
