by Jessie Miller

Mrs. Earl Marr accompanied her daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. David Ince of Hagersville to Toronto on Saturday, spending the day at the home of her granddaughter, Mr. and Mrs. Paul La Cour and small son Jeffrey.

Mrs. Hazel Reynolds and family spent Mothers' Day in Kitchener at the home of her mother, Mrs. John McKellar, returning with the school age children. Pre-school Stephen stayed until Tuesday when his grandmother came to Jarvis with him.

The Wilson Macdonald Memorial School Museum will be open for its 7th season on Sunday June 3rd and will be open each Sunday of the summer. The surrounding grounds and tables may be used on May 24th or at any time. There have already been visitors by appointment and these may be made throughout the season to visit at any time - by appointment only. More particulars later.

Mrs. George Smith has returned to her home after being a patient in Henderson General and West Haldimand for the past 10 weeks.

Mrs. John Awde left on Monday for a visit with her sister, Mrs. Esther Kerslake in St. Catharines.

Mrs. Eva Willis and Mrs. Grace Munro of Calgary, daughters of the late George and Mrs. Henning, who pioneered in the Calgary area in the pioneer days and were natives of the Nanticoke area, have been spending two weeks visiting relatives in this district. The old Henning Home was first sold for an airport, later used for a training and bombing station for the British Air Force during World War II, then for car races and is now a part of Texaco property. The mother of these ladies was a sister of Charlie Brown. Mr. and Mrs. Bertley Brown took them to Niagara Falls and to the Wilson Macdonald Museum. Milton Henning gave a family party for them on Sunday evening. Mrs. Reg. Hedges of Port Dover, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Marr, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Miller of Hagersville, Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Henning of London and Mr. and Mrs. Ron Henning are among those who have had the pleasure of meeting these relatives, also several of the Doughty family. They called at Mrs. R. A. Miller's on Monday afternoon in company with Mrs. Reg. Hedges of Port Dover.

The Russell Miller's took them to Toronto on Sunday to visit other relatives. They report a very busy and happy two weeks.

Joseph, Chef at Explorers Inn, certainly did the village of Jarvis, himself and the staff proud on Mothers' Day, handling the throng of customers throughout the day and evening in an efficient and pleasant manner, to say nothing of the splendid quality of the food. This reporter has seldom enjoyed so fine a dinner as the "Mothers Day Special." Having spent the week in St. Thomas and Port Stanley, Mrs. R. A. Miller and two sons phoned at 12:30 from Simcoe and were seated at a table for seven during the afternoon. The very lovely

Jarvis Girl Wins Speedway Title

Art Clark of West Seneca, N.Y. won the opening race in the Super Late Model stock car series at Cayuga International Speedway Friday night before a record first night crowd of more than 5,000 spectators.

The 36 year old driver placed his 1973 Camaro into the winners circle after completing 30 laps around the 5/8 mile paved Super Oval.

Starting from pole position, Clark led the entire distance. Finishing second in a 1972 Chevelle was Earl Ross of Ailsa Craig, Ontario, while third place went to Don Biederman of Burlington in a 1969 Chevelle, fourth was Jerry Makara of Westland, Michigan.

The top four drivers ran bumper to bumper for most of the distance. The race was slowed briefly when the caution flag was brought out after four cars spun off the track on four separate occasions.

Rich Wrobel of Elma, N.Y., driving a 1972 Camaro finished fifth and Roger Kelly of Perry, N.Y. in a 1972 Firebird was sixth.

The win gave Clark his first taste of victory in Super Late model action at Cayuga International Speedway. His best finish last season was a third on one occasion.

In winning, Clark took the lead in two separate Championship series. The $5,000 Red Cap Cayuga points fund and the $10,000 Red Cap Cayuga - Delaware series of events. The Cayuga - Delaware series is a combined series between Cayuga International and London's Delaware International. Delaware will host the same drivers every Saturday night during the season.

It's Tougher To Say "No" These Days

by Derek Bishop

The Permissive Society we live in today makes it harder for kids to develop solid values. This permissiveness was created by millions of parents who have forgotten how to say "no" to their children.

Many adults in their 30's and 40's grew up in times when there were few material advantages. Parents have always wanted their children to have more than they did and not to be deprived. In an age when material wealth is at an all time high, it is no wonder that children have been showered with possessions to the saturation point.

It is too easy to say "yes" and far too hard to say "no." But children need the discipline of having to wait and having to work for what they want. Parents seem to forget that although it was hard to scrape and work for that first bicycle, it was treasured once it was bought.

Children still have to experience the joy of putting their own effort into getting what they want. One of the biggest problems of always getting what they want is the attitude it builds in the minds of children. They expect everyone will bend to their will and get annoyed when someone in authority tries to curb their activities. If a child has rarely been told "no" or "You can't do or have that," as a child, then there is no hope of teaching them the value of discipline later.

Unfortunately the word "discipline," in the eyes of many teenagers, is considered a punishment, rather than guidance. They have become so used to doing what they want, with few restrictions, that any curb on their nature or actions seems repressive.

How many times have parents turned to their children and said, "How could you do this to me after all I've done for you? You've never wanted for anything!" Therein lies the problem.

It takes self-discipline on the part of parents to refrain from giving, giving, giving to their children. The sensible parent can show just as much love when he says "no" as when he says "yes."

Teenagers have to rebel if they are going to grow and shape their own personality. It is difficult to rebel openly against permissive parents. Children need someone strong-willed, with backbone, to come into conflict with, to express their disagreement. That often happens at school, because teachers can't operate in a totally permissive society. Parents who put their foot down early, and draw lines for their children, are doing them, and society, lifelong favours.

Letter To The Editor

Constantly on the news we hear of wild life being slaughtered by guns, arrows, and other weapons in the hands of man -- unlawfully and for no other reason than the mere thrill of it.

Ontario's wildlife is precious and must be protected before many species become extinct. Before any person kills unreasonably, he should ask himself how he would feel if some creature more powerful than he killed his family and friends for the thrill of it.

There are laws protecting our wildlife, but the punishment is not strict enough. At present a fine is levied. However, the wrongdoer pays this fine and soon forgets the whole affair. This is why I believe that a punishment of a whipping of not less than five lashes should be incurred. This sounds barbaric and radical, but any man who slaughters unreasonably is being barbaric and deserved this treatment. This punishment, if fully enforced, would also act as a deterrent, whereas fines are not doing so.

Animals are not toys. If people would stop and think they would realize that animals, living by the laws of nature, are often times more civilized than human beings.

Ontario residents have proven through the cancellation of energy taxes that we can be heard and paid attention to by the government if we will only work together and make ourselves heard. Will anyone who shares these views or similar ones please write our local representative?

Guides Hold Banquet

Proud and happy Brownies and Guides brought their mothers to St. Paul's Anglican Church Hall on May 8th for their mother and daughter banquet. The tables were decorated with lovely party favours made by the Brownies, and at each place there was a lovely "ribbon rose" corsage made by the Girl Guide Company.

Following a lovely turkey dinner, Jean Reu, a Girl Guide, thanked the mothers for all their help throughout the year, and proposed a toast to them. Mrs. Howard Elliott replied and thanked the leaders for all the time they give to the Pack and Company.

Mrs. E. Singleton, chairman of the Local Association, introduced the head table guests: Miss Marilyn Burke, Commissioner for the Hagersville District; Mrs. G. Stallwood, Secretary to the Commissioner; Mrs. D. Vanni, Public Relations Secretary, Rev. R. D. Perry; Mr. Bob Davidson, representative of the Lions Club; and Mrs. Davidson.

Mrs. Singleton then introduced the local leaders: Guide Captain, Mrs. R. Perry; Guide Lieutenant, Mrs. E. Reu, and their helper Adrienne Perry; and the Brownie leaders Brown Owl, Mrs. I. Church; Tawny Owl, Mrs. J. Flemming, Snowy Owl, Mrs. L. Reu; and helpers of the Brownie Pack Linda Fleming, Martha Mitchell, Sherry North and Doris Reu. Secretary-treasurer of the Local Association, Mrs. J. Miller was also introduced.

The Brownie Pack entertained with two songs, then some of the girls received badges: Carolyn Fess - housekeeper, and Kim Dennis,
