Reeve To Run For Council

Hagersville reeve Jack Kincaid is running for a spot at the "grass roots" level of the new regional structure. Mr. Kincaid told the Record Tuesday morning he is contesting a council seat in Ward 4 (Hagersville) in the Town of Haldimand.

The 58 - year - old candidate said he would like to stay closer to the people and he feels he knows the present and future needs of the village. At this stage, his experience in local politics would benefit the Hagersville ratepayers, he said.

Mr. Kincaid, who is married with one son, is also chairman of the administration committee and on the finance committee for Haldimand County Council.

His political experience dates back to 1946 when he first served as councillor in Meadoc, Ontario. Between '46 and '53, he worked as councillor and reeve and finally warden of Hastings County.

From 1956 - 1964, he was clerk of Meadoc. In 1966, he moved to Hagersville and a year later ran for council. He has served as councillor for one year, deputy- reeve two years and reeve for four years in the village.

Mr. Kincaid is an inspector with the Ministry of Agriculture and Food.

Deputy Reeve To Run For Councillor

Hagersville's 43-year-old deputy- reeve is running for councillor of Ward 4 (Hagersville) in the new Town of Haldimand.

Norm Crawford, a data processing and electricity teacher at Cayuga Secondary School is seeking a spot at the local level because he is concerned about how recreation and policing will be handled in the new Haldimand - Norfolk region.

Mr. Crawford has been involved in the recreation aspect of the village ever since he moved to Hagersville and he serves on the police committee.

He feels somebody with up - to - date knowledge of Hagersville policing and fire service should be representing the village. Hagersville has one of the best fire and police forces in the county, he said, and he doesn't want to lose them.

On the issue of regional policing versus O.P.P. coverage, Mr. Crawford said he was very much in favor of it ( regional ) because provincial policing would not replace what Hagersville has now and do such duties as by-law enforcement and door checks.

Mr. Crawford's political background includes:

* Councillor in 1958 for the town of Aylmer;

* Served for 1 1/2 years ('60 - '61) on the vocational advisory committee of the East Elgin high school board;

* Two years on council and one year as deputy- reeve in Hagersville.

Mr. Crawford who moved to Hagersville in 1965, is presently taking a computer science course at Brock University.

He is married with one son.

History Of Hagersville

Miss Beatrice Downs

Among the professions, nursing is recognized as one of the noblest, although it is probably one of the most exacting, requiring years of training, lengthy vigils and strict obedience to the physician's orders. Miss Downs has had three years experience in the Sisters of Charity Hospital, Buffalo, and is thoroughly competent to take charge of the most difficult cases. In private cases she has been most successful, and will always be found to be careful, painstaking and attentive, and is ready to accept all engagements.

HAGERSVILLE 1910-1920

In 1910 five acres of forested land, known as Almas' Little Woods was set aside for use by the public, at a time when there was a very good chance of its being cut down and made into lots.

A greater population plus a new importance placed on education were the two reasons behind the expansion in the Hagersville High School. Two new rooms were added.

Hydro was introduced into Hagersville in 1913, and the gas street lamps were replaced by electric lights giving the streets a new brightness, but putting Mr. Cheese, the lamp-lighter out of a job. Even after the hydro, Courtages kept a gas light burning outside the store for men to light their cigars on. It was a favorite pastime of the children in town to loiter in the vicinity of this light, which was never extinguished, and watch the townsmen light their cigars - each with his own special flair.

This was the decade of the car! Doctor Trotter was the first in town to use this modern form of transportation. Mrs. Agnes Duncanson was one of the first to buy a car -- a Gray Dori. On her first trip out of town with the car, she ran into a cow between here and Nelles Corners.

The acceptance of the automobile, and its wild - fire growth in numbers opened a whole new business line -- the service station. Mr. Head was the first to get in on the action followed by Mr. Laidlaw. The Womens Institute procured weekly garbage collection for Hagersville, and supplied the town with street markers in the 1910's.

Cheapside U.C.W.

The U.C.W. of Cheapside United Church met at the home of Mrs. Melvin Bartlett on Thursday afternoon November 8th with an attendance of 13.

The president, Mrs. Arvil Nie opened the meeting with a poem and the hymn "Take My Life And Let It Be," followed by prayer.

The roll call was answered by a Bible verse containing the word "Witness." The report of the nominating committee was given by Mrs. Ivan Whitford, who also read the minutes and correspondence and thank you notes. After a discussion on the business, Mrs. Harold Marshall gave an interesting talk on Stewardship.

Mrs. Arnold Creaser was in charge of the Worship service. She used the "Theme Witness" for her meditation and prayer. Mrs. Lloyd Fess helped Mrs. Creaser giving the answers. A number of scripture verses were used.

The offering was received and dedicated. The worship service closed with prayers for all those needing our prayers and the Lord's Prayer.

The meeting closed by singing the hymn "Jesus Calls Us O'er The Tumult."
