In Memoriam

In loving memory of a dear nephew and friend, Gary who left us on Oct. 10, 1969.

Beside his grave we often stand
Our hearts are tired and sore
When through the gloom, there comes the words
Not dead, just gone before.
Remembered Always by Bob, Donna and Chuck.

In loving memory of our dear brother Gary who passed away Oct. 10, 1969.

Time slips by, but memories stay
Quietly remembered every day.
Sadly missed. Jack and Bonnie.

In loving memory of our dear son and brother Gary who was taken away suddenly Oct. 10, 1969.

Deep in our hearts is a memory,
A picture framed in gold,
A treasure we'll keep forever, More precious than silver and gold.

Sadly missed and never forgotten. Dad, Mom and Pam.

In memory of a dear grandson and nephew, Gary Ronald Wardell who passed away October 10, 1969.

What would I give to clasp his hand
His happy face to see
To hear his voice and see his smile

That meant so much to me, Sadly missed. Grandma, Grandpa Lamb and Charlie.

"Anne Of A Thousand Days"

to her end at the hands of a court executioner.

The audience will sit around the entire stage in order to involve them more closely with the characters and 16th century happenings.

Playwrite Anderson
has done some interesting things with the characters of Anne and Henry, Mr. Whitman
continued.

He's taken the king and portrayed him as a man with a conscious.
In the play, Henry rationalizes his actions, he said.
He actually believes he's doing God's will.

And, instead of making Anne, Henry's second wife, innocent of wrongdoing or convict-ing her as an adulteress, the play leaves the issue open for audience speculation, Mr. Whitman said.

Brian Speller plays the part of king and describes it as a "new experience." He has never had this big of a part in a play before and finds the character of Henry "hard to get into because of the sort of man he was." But, he thinks it is coming along really well and all the players are putting forth a good effort which is helping him out in his role.

Betsy MacKinnon likes her part of Anne and expects to feel more like the beautiful queen by the end of October.

Mr. Whitman says I must totally immerse myself in the part, she explained. And, she

The play is also being

rehearsed a little differently, Mr. Whitman explained. Instead of memorizing the lines word for word, the characters are ad libbing to a certain extent. The acting appears more natural, he pointed out.
And, it gives the actors some practice in case their minds go blank at the wrong time.

Other people assisting with the play are Mark Laforme — music; Roger Mackereith — lights and Becky Snowden — costumes.
