Hagersville scored four runs in the first inning and were never headed till the last of the six. They bounced back with two runs in the top of the seventh only to see Caledonia win it with their last bats.

S. Nootens led the Hagersville hitters with three while Jerry McCarthy, Stan Jackson and Dennis Smith had two each. Singles went to Bill Esselment, Rick Pepper, and Tom Sears. Oneida will play in Hagersville June 11 and it is hoped the boys will come up with a better effort in this game.

Gun controls

The immediate response to Brampton's tragic incident only two short weeks ago, has been a province-wide demand for the tightening of gun control legislation.

The demand has been further heightened by the stunt NDP member Morton Shulman pulled on fellow members at Parliament Hill. He pulled a rifle in the middle of debate to show how easy it was to get a shotgun.

Under present legislation, only hand guns must be registered. Shotguns and rifles can be bought across the counter, no questions asked.

The need for gun control legislation is a problem that has been kicking around for a long time. Like a simmering pot, however, it needed the extra heat of the Brampton incident to bring the matter to the boiling point.

Guns, unfortunately, are an escalating problem. For instance, you live in downtown Toronto. Three murders are committed within one week right in your neighbourhood. The wife becomes a little nervous, and you're not too thrilled with the prospect of having a murderer running around on the loose, so the natural reaction is to try and get yourself some kind of protection.

Another problem is that guns can be used against you. A petty burglar, who has been caught breaking into your house, may use your gun against you in order to evade being charged by police.

Hunters will tell you that guns are not dangerous in the right hands. They say a shotgun is something like a snowmobile...you use it only as a type of hobby—a sport.

Hunters would probably be only too pleased at having to register their shotguns and rifles. Most hunters are responsible people, know how to handle their rifles and know the dangers that can result when a person is able to get a rifle without any kind of permit.

It is my belief that all guns, rifles shotguns, or other firearms should be registered. That each person should undergo some type of test program. One test would be for accuracy. I wouldn't feel too safe knowing there was a hunter out in my backyard who couldn't hit the broad side of a barn if he was ten feet away from it.

I also don't think it would be too hard to administer some kind of written psychiatric test to every person who wished to handle a gun.

Some people may feel this suggestion is a little ridiculous, I for one, however, would be only too pleased to write that test if I knew that it might detect someone who should never own a gun.

People are strange animals. Guns give them a heady sensation of being powerful. The feeling of power, too often, as has been noted in history books throughout the ages, enables a person to do things they would never think of if they didn't have a gun to give them courage.

The crime of passion is the most common type of murder. We all read about the husband who murdered his wife, the mother who murdered her children and committed suicide, the son who kills his parents, etc. When anger flares up a gun is much too tempting.

We are living in a society where guns are part of most people's daily lives. Most guns are kept locked away in a desk drawer—too many are left standing in the closet, lying in a kitchen drawer, or somewhere else easily accessible. Chicago, or Murder City as some of the residents call it, I would want a gun.

It is said that man has only three necessities for life—food, clothing and shelter. I would like to add one more to that list—protection.

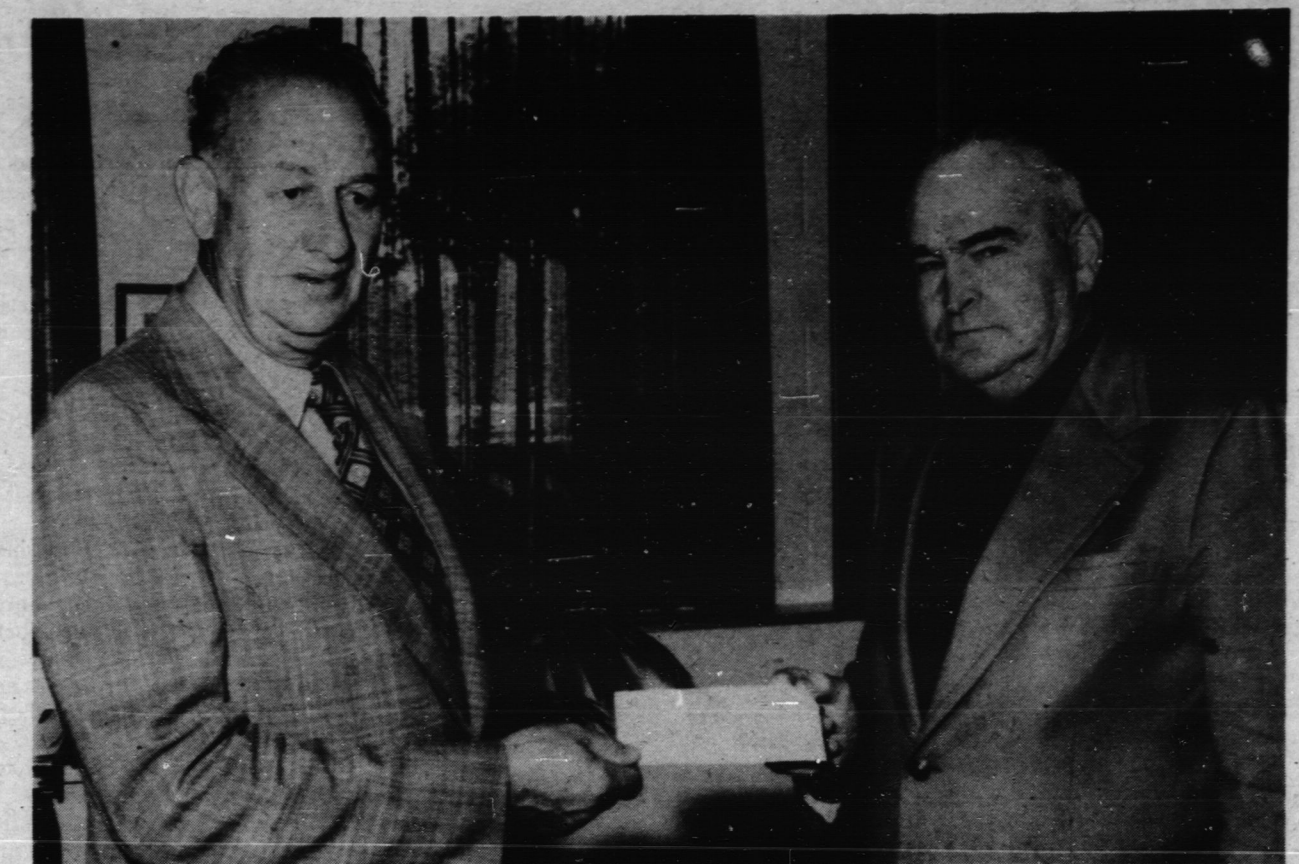

We cannot take away everyone's guns because a few people are unable to handle them. A person has the right to protect themselves and their families. We can, however, make sure that no one gets a gun without having his or her name in a book and that each person is tested by a psychiatrist for loose screws.

Permit No. 1124

The Regional Planner

With the receipt of a cheque for $14,066 the City of Nanticoke announced that it was now prepared to accept applications for financial assistance under the Ontario Home Renewal Program.

The $14,066 is the first installment on an approved grant of approximately $56,000 that will be provided the City under this program in 1975.

The Ontario Home Renewal Program is directed to the rehabilitation of sub-standard dwellings, with emphasis on faulty structural and sanitary conditions and the upgrading of plumbing, heating and electrical systems. Eligible residents of the City may obtain up to $7,500 assistance under the program. Depending upon the family income, the assistance may be in the form of either a forgivable grant or a repayable loan, or a combination of both.

The maximum forgivable portion that may be granted is $4,000. The actual amount is geared to the family income and must be earned by continued ownership and occupancy of the residence over a period of years.

The interest rate on the repayable loan is also based on the family income and ranges from 0 per cent for those earning under $3,000 to a maximum of 8 per cent for families with an income in excess of $8,000. Repayment is by monthly installments over a period of up to 20 years as desired by the borrower.

The income provisions of the program are based on what is known as the "adjusted family income". This income, which can not exceed $12,500 refers to the total gross annual income from all sources of the principal wage-earner and his or her spouse, after deducting the following: the travelling expenses relating to the earning of such income; the annual gross income of the spouse, or the sum of $1,000 whichever is less; the sum of $300, for each dependent child living in the dwelling unit; and where only one parent resides in the dwelling unit, the sum of $1,000 less the amount of any financial assistance for maintenance received from any government agency or body.

A citizen wishing to obtain assistance under the program or further information, should contact Mr. Kenneth Kent, at the Municipal Office 230 Main St. Port Dover, and fill out a preliminary application form.

Ministry creates forests

Spring tree planting across Eastern Ontario will turn 6,100 acres of idle land into forests of 5,250,000 new trees, Phil Anslow, regional forester for Eastern Ontario, reports.

The program, administered by the Ministry of Natural Resources, has rehabilitated about 28,000 acres of non-productive land in this part of the province.

Anslow says, "Persistent cool temperatures this year held up the start of tree planting, but the operation is now going smoothly and should be finished in late May or early June."

During the five week push, 350 men and women, including workers who are lifting and packing seedlings at the Kempsville Nursery, are being employed.

The tree planters have only four to five weeks between frost retreat and the beginning of the seedlings' rapid growth stage to get the seedlings transplanted. After rapid spring growth starts their chances of surviving the lifting-moving-transplanting process decrease.

The largest percentage of new trees planted will be white spruce, followed by red pine, jack pine, larch and hardwoods, such as maple, poplar and basswood.

More than a million trees will be planted in the Brockville and Cornwall areas. Around both Ottawa and Tweed 700,000 trees will go into the ground, and in each of the Lanark and Napanee Natural Resources districts 600,000 seedlings will be planted.

More than half the planting will be done on private land. Owners pay about a cent a tree, but must enter into an agreement with the province to maintain the new plantations at least 15 years. (Ontario Ministry of Natural Resources)

After the Municipality received the application, it will confirm the eligibility of the applicant and arrange to have his dwelling inspected by a Regional building inspector. This inspection will determine the detailed nature and extent of the work to be done and will arrive at the preliminary estimate of the cost.

If the applicant wished to proceed with the loan, he is then required to obtain cost estimates from two or more contractors of his choice, and to submit these estimates to the municipality when he makes his final application. Arrangements can also be made to allow the owner to do the work himself provided he has the necessary time and skills.

If the estimates are satisfactory, and if all other conditions are satisfied, the Municipal Council will approve the loan and will take out a lien against the property as a guarantee of payment. The borrower will then be authorized to award contracts for the work to be done. As the work commences the building inspectors will do periodic inspections to see sure that it is being done in a satisfactory manner. When the building is completed, payment will be made jointly to the borrower and the contractor by the Regional Treasurer.

Repayment of the loan commences after the work has been completed.
