Jarvis Lions

The Jarvis Lions Club met at the Community Hall for the final October meeting Monday, October 27. As November peeks forth it reminds us that summer has gone and it is time to prepare for our winter activities.

As all clubs are doing their best to make each visitation successful, with the result -- along with our own members -- eleven guests (Waterford, Vittoria - Courtland).

Lion Vaughan Mitchell introduced his guest speaker Mr. Mike Kirk, of the Ministry of Natural Resources (used to be the Dept. of Lands and Forests, remember?), who gave a commentary and showed slides on the work of his department. He mentioned our three area parks, providing of fish and game for sportsmen, taking water samples, planting trees by farmers to aid in the prevention of land erosion and the encouragement of the use of the parks by the people. Jim Doughty thanked Mr. Kirk and presented him with a gift in appreciation for taking the time to visit us.

Lion Jack Lloyd read the Lion information sheet - Community Image. That is, what is expected of us as Lions in the area, working with the community and letting everyone know what is being done and what is going to be done. This image in the organization comes from Lions International to the local club. Jack gave such a sharply-cutting, precise picture that when he returned to his seat, his cigar was sliced in four.

Lions and district please keep in mind that our Annual Remembrance Day parade and service will be held on November 9 at the Anglican Church with parade at 2:15 and service at 2:30. All Lions are asked to be present for this event.

Courtland and District member Lion Jim Helsdon asked for our presence to help make their fifth Annual Anniversary Banquet successful by outlining that it would be held in the Hungarian Hall in Delhi on Sat. November 8 with get-acquainted hour starting at 6 p.m., while at 7 we would set down to a real traditional meal of cabbage rolls, fried chicken and all the trimmings. Price of $12.00 per couple would include the meal, dancing to the Kingsmen and rollands. For tickets - phone Jim at 842-8810.

Right here at home, a dance is slated for Nov. 8 in the Jarvis Hall. Come and join the fun especially newcomers to Jarvis.

MIME THEATRE AT HAGERSVILLE SECONDARY SCHOOL

On Sunday, November 9th, professional pantomime theatre will be seen in Hagersville. Paul Gaulin, who trained under Marcel Marcu, will be at Hagersville Secondary School to entertain both young and the young at heart. Paul Gaulin has made appearances across Canada and has received sparkling reviews.

Tickets to the 2:30 p.m. performance are FREE and are available at all three Town of Haldimand libraries. This event is sponsored by your Library Board with help from an Outreach Grant.

McBride - Dennis

A pretty October wedding was performed by Reverend Taylor-Munroe, assisted by Mr. David Royal in Nanticoke United Church, Nanticoke uniting in marriage Gail Noreen Dennis and Douglas James McBride.

The bride is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Dennis, Nanticoke and the groom is the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford McBride Jarvis.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of white sheer over polyester crepe. The bodice was enhanced with lace appliques, with a high neckline, long sheer sleeves and a full skirt. A chapel train flowed from the waistline. Her head piece was a band of flower which held a chapel length veil. She carried a nosegay of white roses.

The maid of honour was Miss Mary Somer, Simcoe and the bridesmaids were Miss Diane Moyles, Toronto, Mrs. Bette Thomson, Nanticoke, sister of the bride, Miss Linda Fazeka, Simcoe, and Miss Debbie Dennis, Sandusk, niece of the bride. They wore matching empire gowns of aqua polyester crepe trimmed with white and aqua lace and carried bouquets of aqua and white carnations.

Best man was Mr. Richard Anderson, Jarvis, and ushers were Mr. Jack Leake, Toronto, Mr. Alistair Taylor, Toronto, Mr. Roger Bartlett, Georgetown, and Mr. David McBride, Jarvis, brother of the groom.

Wedding music was provided by organist Miss Anne Doughty, Markdale and Mrs. Molly Marr, Jarvis, sang the Lord's Prayer and The Wedding Song.

Guests were greeted at Hagersville Community Centre by the parents prior to the dinner and dance. The bride's mother wore a floor length gown of blue and green chiffon, enhanced by a corsage of white carnations and pink roses. The mother of the groom chose a floor length gown of shades of red and pink chiffon and wore a corsage of white carnations and pink roses.

For travelling to Kentucky and Tennessee the bride chose a double knit shirt dress of turquoise trimmed with shades of brown flowers and a corsage of rust mums and yellow roses. The groom wore a casual suit of brushed blue denim.

Guests were present from Toronto, Port Hope, Williamsford, St. Thomas, Freelon, Kitchener, Hamilton, Simcoe and surrounding areas.

Prior to the wedding miscellaneous showers were given by the staff of Guaranty Trust, where the bride was employed, Mary Somers and Bonnie Hall, Linda Reeder, Laura Anderson and Donna North, Donna Swinton and Joan Headley, Elanor Nigh, Mabel Mulkins, and Jessie Dennis.

Mr. and Mrs. McBride are residing at 76 Mary Street, Chatham, where the groom is employed by Electrohome.

THE OCEANS BELONG TO ALL

In Geneva and in several other capitals, more than 140 nations have been trying to hammer out laws that will in future govern international action on and under the oceans. The international Law of the Sea conference will -- it is hoped -- come up with a successful treaty that could be ratified in Caracas next year.

One aspect of the treaty which could be of great importance to Canada would be world-wide agreement on a 200 mile coastal economic zone. Several hundred thousand Canadians have signed petitions demanding the 200 mile limit, and Ottawa has promised fishermen it will press for this in order to protect Canadian interests from foreign fishing fleets.

But much more than fish-eries is being discussed by the Law of the Sea conference: the maintenance of the oceans as the most important global highways for transport, communication, trade and strategic movements; the preservation of the planet's marine environment; the question of ownership of the immense mineral resources of the sea.

The concept of farming the seas for food is being tried here and there, but in a most haphazard way. Yet if mankind were to use the food the sea holds correctly, there would be no need for hunger in the poor lands.

Although the powerful lands still hope to gain certain advantages at the talks -- simply because they say they have the financial and technical resources to exploit the oceans -- it is clear that the seas belong to all. In the past, small groups of maritime powers were supreme on the high seas. Using ships and soldiers, they colonized vast regions of the planet.

Today, the military supremacy of a few powers does not prevent smaller nations from speaking up and demanding a greater share of the world's wealth. Much of this wealth lies in the oceans. The Law of the Sea talks deserve to succeed because never before have nations attempted to draft such an ambitious global treaty dealing with the oceans. In future all men should benefit from the riches held by the sea.

IT'S TIME FOR GUN CONTROL

Despite two near misses on the life of President Ford, despite an alarming increase in crimes involving firearms, despite a wide clamor for more stringent gun control legislation, statistics just released indicate that the sale of rifles and shotguns in Canada increased almost 40 percent in 1975 over the previous year.

The powerful lobbies of the outdoor groups and arms manufacturers seem still to be in a position of keeping our politicians from coming to grips with a trend to ownership of arms that is reaching epidemic proportions. It may be simplistic to state that without gun ownership, shootings would be drastically reduced but to the practical mind the removal of the cause of a problem goes a long way towards its solution.

There is simply no need for people to own firearms without strict registration and then only the type of weapon that hunters feel they must have. Ownership of handguns, automatic or semi-automatic weapons or a multiplicity of weapons should be banned in Canada except for the armed forces and legitimate police forces and even these should be tightened up.

Perhaps some people would still get such weapons on the black market but the legitimate sources of supply would be dried up. Such manufacture of arms that is required should be done under the strictest of supervision and the penalties for firearm infractions should be of the utmost severity.

There is simply no justification for the average Canadian to own any form of weapon and most of us would not miss this alleged infringement on our rights, as the gun lobby asserts.

The government, be it provincial or federal, that has the guts to ban ownership and control manufacture would, we suggest, have the support of the majority of Canadians.

Afternoon UCW meets

The Hagersville Afternoon Unit of the United Church Women, met in the Church parlour for their October meeting, when a hearty welcome was extended by Group leader, Mrs. Jean Gedye. She opened the meeting by reading Psalm 100, and Mrs. Vera Young received the offering, which was dedicated by prayer. Mrs. Gedye was projectionist for the showing of the filmstrip entitled most appropriately, "Prayer of Thanksgiving".

This colourful film showed all of our daily blessings to be thankful to our Heavenly for his goodness, including our homes, families, schools, hospitals, nurses and doctors, trees, flowers, birds, animals, etc. A poem entitled, "Among Your Blessings", was read by Mrs. Gedye, and told in a humorous manner of a typical washing day of many years ago. The Lord's Prayer was repeated in unison.

Afternoon President, Mrs. Della Jones welcomed those in attendance, and thanked the committee for an appropriate Devotional on Thank giving. A moment of memorial prayer was offered on Halloween vandals shattered waste containers in Jarvis during the past weekend. These containers had been cleaned and painted by members of the Lion's Club.

VANDALS

The Halloween vandalism is presently under investigation by the Cayuga detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police.

To help contract some of the vandalism, a group of boy scouts voluntarily washed off soap markings in the Jarvis area. These scouts deserve to be commended for their good deed.

behalf of Mrs. Isabel Slack, a former member of the Afternoon UCW. Roll call was taken, and previous minutes read by Secretary, Mrs. Irene Johnson, followed by Treasurer Mrs. Laura Swing presenting her report. She likewise gave an up-to-date report on the supply, and read a letter recently received regarding articles required for the bales. Mention was made of the forthcoming UCW Conference to be held in Guelph and in Grimsby, with the theme to be "Autumn Adventure". Several ladies volunteered to assist with other arrangements for the funeral of Mrs. Slack. Reported that 950 dollars was made in profit at the recent supper.

Pamphlets from McMaster University regarding the region of Haldimand-Norfolk were distributed to each present. A letter from our adopted daughter in India, Legeela Suseela, was read, and Mrs. Esselment reported her birthday is October 15. The roll call for November meeting will be answered with an item for the bale. Lunch was served following the repeating of the Mispal Benediction.

Spring is in the Air in Springvale ...

A Japanese shuberry normally blossoming in May has burst into bloom in Helen Winger's garden. Mrs. Winger says that the reason for her late blossoms is probably due to the "Moisture and warm weather we have been having recently."

News from Knowles

Ottawa, Ontario
October 30th, 1975

The Hon. Marc Lalonde,
Minister of National Health & Welfare,
House of Commons,
Ottawa, Ontario

Dear Mr. Minister,

It was extremely ironical to receive your recent letter with the enclosed button pointing out the alleged dangers of cigarette smoking. I say it was ironical because the area which I represent is the centre of the tobacco growing industry in Canada, as well as the centre for the processing and packing of leaf tobacco.

During the years from 1968 through to 1972 there were prolonged debates centred on the controversy of the relationship of tobacco smoking and health. Manufacturers and the growers representatives argued successfully that there was no direct link between cigarette smoking and lung cancer. They, and I as their spokesman, rejected statistical arguments as positive proof of a relationship between smoking and health, specifically lung cancer and heart disease.

In support of what I am saying I refer you to my remarks in the House of Commons as recorded in Hansard of March 24th, 1972 page 1149. It is for this reason that I will not be requesting a supply of the lapel badges.

It is my feeling that instead of wasting the taxpayers money on lapel badges, these same funds might well be diverted towards the research programme which the government is encouraging at the Tobacco Research Station in Delhi. One thrust of this programme is aimed at developing a type of tobacco containing less tar and nicotine.

From the above comments you will understand that the distribution of the lapel buttons would not be too popular in the tobacco district.

Yours sincerely,
Wm. D. Knowles, M.P.,
Haldimand-Norfolk.

Mr. W. Knowles, M.P.,
House of Commons,
Ottawa, Ontario

Dear Mr. Knowles:
The health hazards associated with cigarette smoking have been well documented by research. Through its Smoking and Health Program my Department continues to seek ways to make the public aware of and concerned about the effects of smoking on health, and the comfort of non-smokers. I see the enclosed lapel badge, which is the international sign that says "No Smoking," as one way of promoting these objectives.

I have received several requests from Members of Parliament for these lapel badges. If you fell the badges can be useful in making some of your constituents aware of the health problems associated with smoking, you may want a supply. Reasonable quantities may be obtained by writing to:

Non-Medical Use of Drugs Directorate,
Health Protection Branch,
Department of National Health and Welfare,
Room 912, 365 Laurier Avenue West,
Ottawa KIA 1B6

If you distribute the badge to organized groups, I would like to hear how they make use of it and the kind of interest it generates.

Yours truly,
Marc Lalonde

Boundless Love

If for one fleeting moment of the day I hear the plaintive cry of one in need, My own tears mingle with the ones he sheds; My heart, upon his breed of sorrow feeds.

What must the feeling be of ONE who hears The world - cry of a million heart-felt prayers, Unceasing -- spoken or unspoken-- How much HIS own heart aches, how much it cares,
