Flyers tie Dunnville in home opener

The Hagersville Flyers and the Dunnville Terriers skated to a 6-6 tie in the Flyers home opener played before 600 fans in Hagersville arena. It was a crowd pleasing game judging from the amount of noise generated by the fans with the Terriers having a large following on hand. The home town fans had a lot to cheer about in the first two periods as the Flyers built up a 4-2 lead.

They went dead at the start of the third period as the visitors banged in 2 quick goals. The Flyers scored once to slow the Dunnville attack but it was only temporary. Two goals a minute and a half apart put Dunnville ahead for the first time in the game. It looked like the Flyers had blown the contest till Jim Nagel banged in Anthony Yacubino's face off pass for the tying goal with less than four minutes left in the game.

Jim Nagel opened the scoring for the Flyers when he took a pass from Glen Hewson. New comer Paul McSorley failed to get an assist on the goal but he did most of the work keeping the puck inside the blue line. Paul Sorge made it 1-1 13 seconds later when he beat goalie Phil Nie with a shot to the stick side. Paul Fryett teamed with Darrell Watson and Dennis Smith to make it 2-1. Watson then scored 2 in a row with the second one being a tricky effort on the rookie part. Fryett and Sandy Gibbons set up the first goal with Dennis Smith helping out on the second one. Watson picked the puck up outside the blue line and deked two men on the way to the net before flipping it past Mike Robinson in the Terriers net. Mark Plug got an unassisted goal for the visitors as the second period ended. The third period was all Dunnville as they really poured it on the Flyers. Some acrobatic moves by Nie kept the score down as Dunnville really brought the game to the Flyers. It paid off in goals by Gord Chymko and Joe Jacob. When it looked like the Flyers were out of gas Bill Nagel stopped a puck at the blue line and let go a slap shot that Robinson didn't see. Hewson was credited with an assist. Doug Murphy and Andy Couvillion popped pucks past Nie before Nagel's tying goal.

Dunnville coach Dave Green was pleased with the tie and felt the league would be better this year and have more balance. Hagersville coach Jim Hall was both pleased with the game but also disappointed that he did not come up with a win. Hall felt the double minor at the start of the third period really hurt his club "I had saved the line of Watson, Fryett, and Dennis Smith in the second period with the hopes of having them fresh for the last 20 minutes, but then I had to use them to kill two penalties" remarked the coach. This took away a lot of the drive of the young kids and plus a few mental mistakes on the part of the defence kept us in trouble.

Bill Nagel and Sandy Gibbons have some Junior experience on the blue line, but rookies Kevin Smith and Paul McSorley are having their first look at Junior competition. Both rookies handed out their share of checks and if they had a fault it was underestimating the opposition. Several times a little more steam on clearing shots and Dunnville would not have stopped them at the blue line.

Phil Nie stopped 45 shots, 18 in the last period... Twice Phil backed into the net and it resulted in easy goals, but we would still have to say he was the out standing player on the ice. -- It was good to see Roger Montour back in action.

Pee-Wees win

The Hagersville Pee-Wees took the ice for the first time this season and came up with a well deserved 2-1 win over Simcoe. This was a cleanly played game with each team picking up only two penalties.

Hagersville scored in the first period on a goal by Norm Tobicoe. This goal stood up till near the end of the second period when Simcoe got the puck past Chris Bell for their first score. Shane Ferguson was the marksman with Andy Latvinko getting the assist. Coach Bryan Smith switched goal tenders for the last period and it may have been a wise move as Simcoe put on a little power. Adam Smith kept the visitors at bay till the last minute of the game. Jerry Roberts finished off a three way passing play with Larry Huffman and Paul Awde for the winning score. This goal showed up the importance of passing the puck and if the coach can get the boys to keep passing he will be some sort of magician.

Sirloin or sludge

Breakfast from sewage sludge? What a disgusting thought! But in Australia, an enterprising cattle-farm manager matter of factly recycles into food nine-tenths of the sludge produced by the city of Melbourne (pop. 2,200,000). This is the sludge that feeds the land that grows the grass that fattens the Herefords that puts steak on Australian dinner tables.

At a study day held recently in Burlington, Ontario, James McPherson described to 50 environmental scientists how on the 27,000 acre Werribee Farm just outside Melbourne the local Board of Works raise cattle and sheep on sludge-fertilized grass-a two-and-a-half-million dollar a year operation.

The sludge goes directly onto the land without requiring costly treatment. But... is the meat produced really fit for human consumption? "Certainly," says Mr. McPherson, showing color slides of beautiful fat-marbled T bone steaks to reinforce his opinion. True there was that brief unpleasantness back in the '30s when Werribee cattle developed human-type tapeworms, but nobody's perfect. Today the cattle meet all health safety rules.

But. What about cadmium in the sludge? Environmental scientists know there is cadmium in human waste and strongly suspect it's a threat to health. Might not cadmium be taken in by the grass and concentrated in the beef?

"We're beginning to look at that," says Mr. McPherson, adding wistfully, "In the early times, everything went so well and nobody was worried."

Still, if sludge-fed sirloin should catch on in Canada in a big way, one can only hope the Australian studies will give a green light on the effects of cadmium on humans.

As it stands, some Canadian farmers empty their septic tanks and spread the human waste on their fields as a huge saving on fertilizer. Perhaps we should not leave it to the Australians to find out about the cadmium.

Hanging is murder

It would be a naive politician who, today, can approach the issue of the abolition of capital punishment without some trepidation. But, sooner or later it must be faced and our leaders must give us some guidance.

Police chiefs, law enforcement associations, municipal politicians and private citizens are demanding the return of the noose or some other form of execution for murder. Whether it be for the murder of policemen and prison guards, premeditated murder, murder by insane persons or simple crimes of passion, there seems to be a vocal and substantial section of society that believes capital punishment is the only suitable way of dealing with murder.

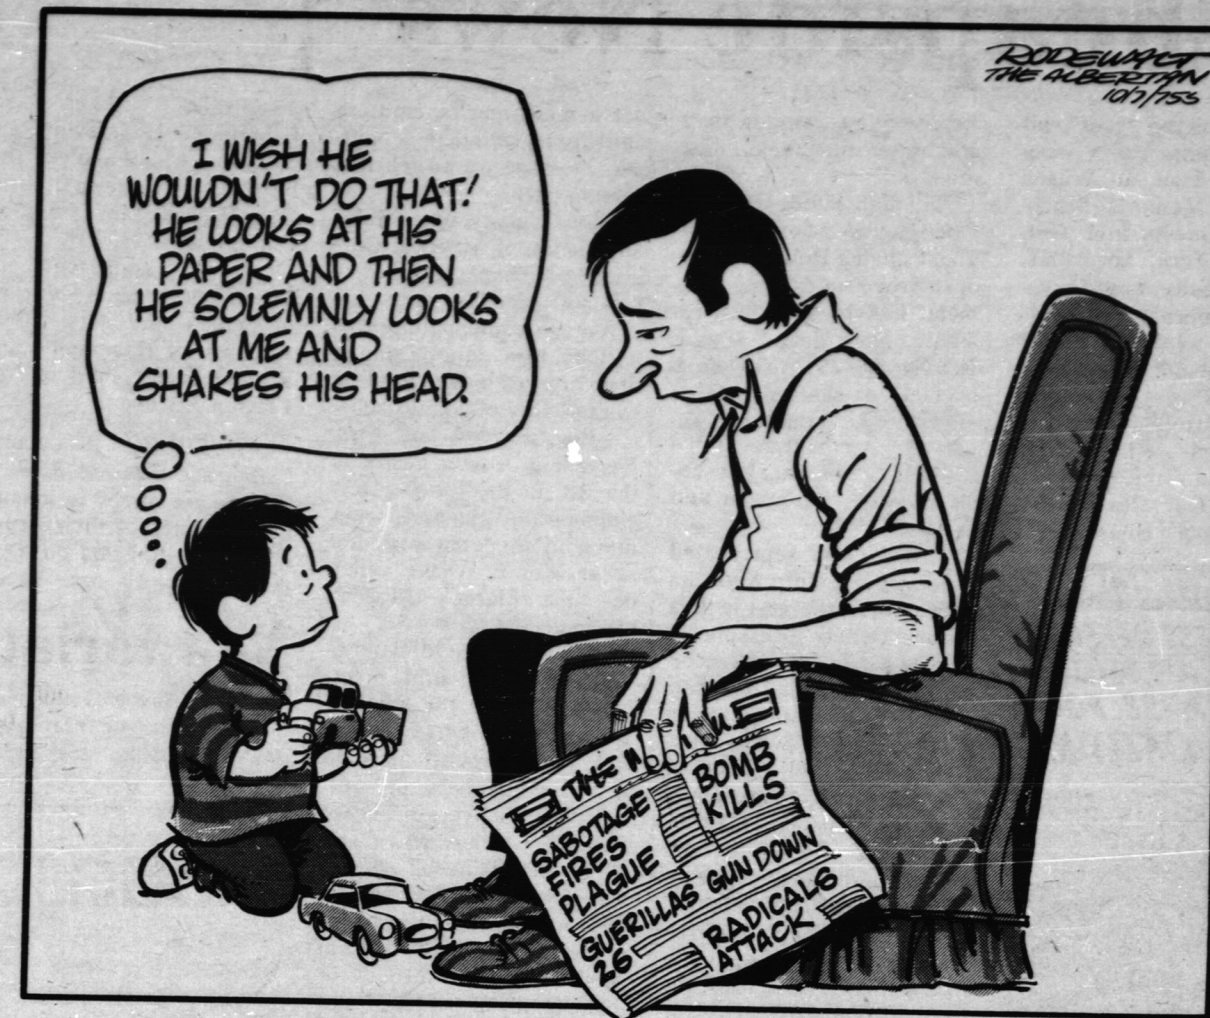

The reams of statistics, the endless studies by competent authorities and the clear pronouncement by many church leaders that hanging is no deterrent for murderers and merely brutalizes society seems to have little effect on people who are engulfed in revulsion when they hear of a particularly senseless or brutal crime inflicted on some innocent child.

All society is afflicted with horror at such crimes. The perpetrators must be dealt with but to eradicate them is simply an act of social revenge. Our laws could be toughened up sufficiently to ensure that no convicted murderer would be released until it is certain he will not repeat the act.

But death, by whatever means and let us be clear there is no "humane" way of execution, is morally indefensible. Forgiveness, compassion, rehabilitation are part of the moral fibre of our society at its best, and these instincts must not be blunted in the first waves of emotion.

The irrevocable act of hanging on the part of society-all of us-precludes any chance to study and remedy the causes of these crimes... It strikes at the very sanctity of human life that our Judeo-Christian heritage so cherishes.

Surely we can find more humane, effective and just ways of seeing that threats to our life and liberty are dealt with, than by hanging people.

No-nonsense needlers

Meetings III and IV of the Jarvis No Nonsense Needlers were held at the home of our leader on Monday, October 13th.

We opened the meeting with the 4-H Pledge. Irene read the minutes from Meeting II. Irene adopted them as read and correct. The treasurer reported $22.52 in the treasury. We received $12.00 for placing our exhibit in the Caledonia Fair. The Roll Call for Meeting III and the Home Assignment for Meeting II was taken up. Our lunch and clean-up committee for Meeting V is Mary & Irene. Meeting V will be held on Monday, October 20 at 7:00 p.m. at Linda's home. We discussed the design for our covers. Some possibilities were eliminated and the probabilities will be discussed further at the next meeting where a decision will be made. The exhibit committee is to have a meeting before Meeting V and decide on the title for our exhibit.

We went over the Roll Call and Home Assignments that are to be done for Meeting V. Anyone wanting a copy of the book 100 Embroidery Stitches (issued by J. & P. Coats [Canada] Ltd.) received one and will bring the money to the next meeting. A catch-up meeting for those girls who want help to catch up or for those who are confused will be held on Wed. Oct. 15 at Linda's place. Sonya adjourned the business session.

Uses for the back stitch and the twisted chain stitch were discussed. We went over "How to Create a Design" & "How to Enlarge a Design". Linda showed us how to do the Twisted Chain Stitch, the Couching Crossed, and the Couching Outline. We practised these stitches until we were comfortable with them.

Sonya and Tricia served lunch.

GOOD HUNTING - SAFELY

Once again hunting season is here. The community services branch of the Ontario Provincial Police remind you that there are several basic gun-handling rules.

Hunting accidents claim about 125 lives each year, usually because the most simple rules have been broken.

What can you do?

- Never consume alcohol before, or during a hunt.
- Know the identifying features of the game you intend to hunt.
- Never shoot in the direction of buildings or livestock.

You cannot depend on the common sense of the hunter beside you--wear bright orange.

The handling of firearms requires great care.

- Always handle a gun as if it were loaded.
- Never climb a tree or fence with a loaded firearm.

- Always carry your gun so that you can control the direction of the muzzle.
- Unattended firearms should always be unloaded.

Few hunting deaths are accidents--they are usually caused by negligence--criminal negligence. So keep crime prevention in mind. The criminal code provides a stiff penalty for this offence. Don't be at either end of an "accident", use these common sense measures and enjoy a safe hunting trip.
