The Ontario Safety League reports that more than 50 per cent of all traffic accidents in this province are intersection-related. One of the prime reasons for intersection accidents is that driver's don't obey the traffic signs or signals.

Always drive over the brow of a hill with the thought that there might be an obstacle just beyond, suggests the Ontario Safety League. Sometimes there is.

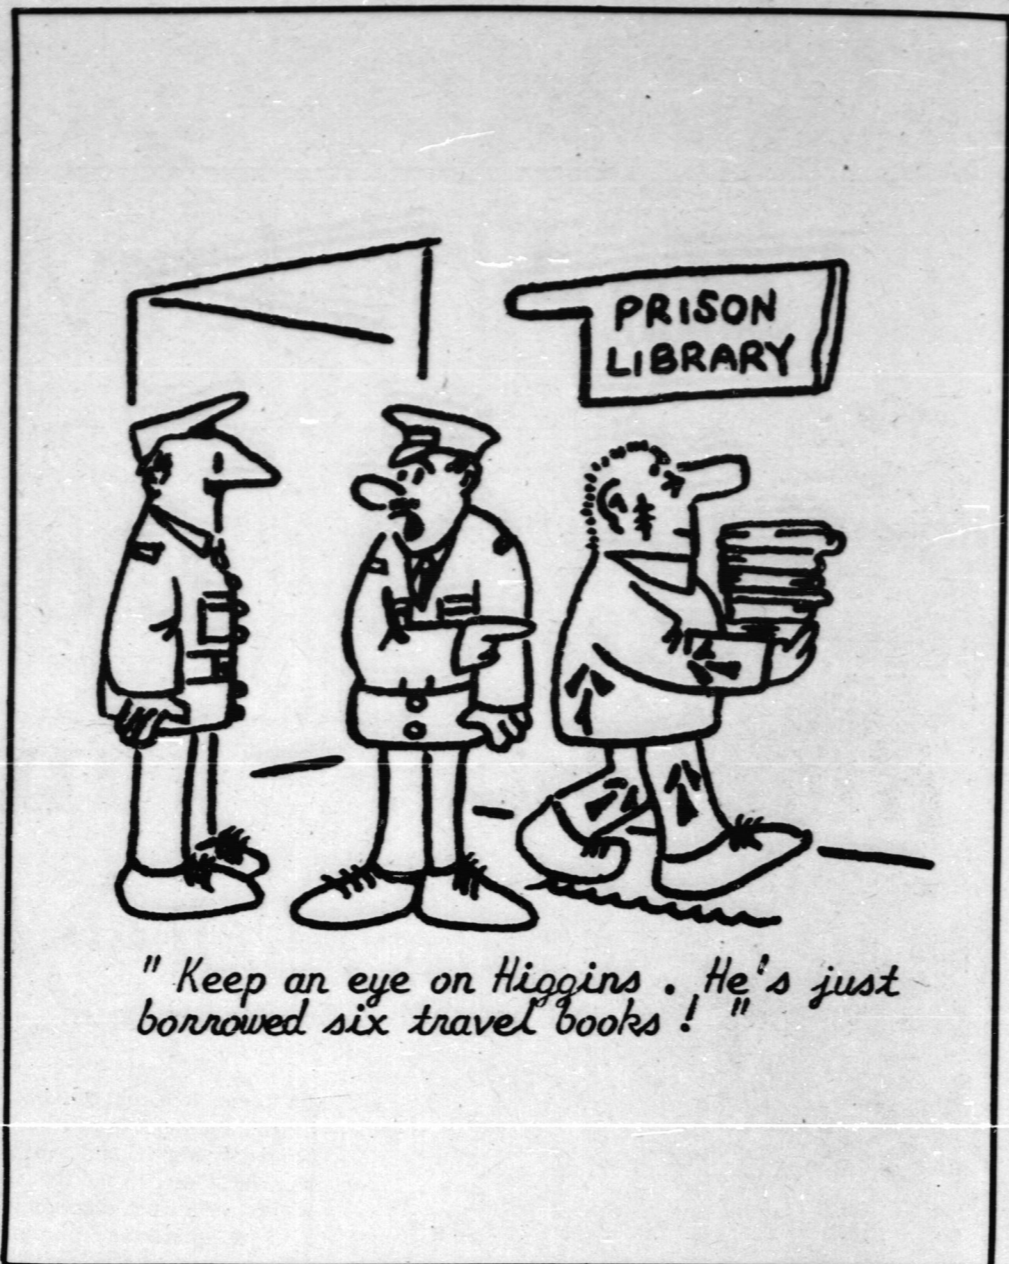

It's a common driving error, says the Ontario Safety League. Many drivers wishing to make a left turn at an intersection sit waiting with wheels turned. A slight bump from the rear will send them hurtling into oncoming traffic.

The Ontario Safety League reminds drivers that speed increases the forces which, in an accident, turn such useful equipment as metal and glass into deadly weapons.

Collisions between cars are not the main cause of traffic deaths in rural areas. The Ontario Safety League points out the surprising fact that most drivers who drive to death in the country, do so unaided. Non-collision accidents, such as roll-overs or running off a curve, claim more lives than car-to-car collisions. And in the majority of cases, the use of safety belts would have prevented death.

Selkirk Library Guild Meets

The annual membership meeting was held on Sept. 17 in the Centennial Hall with Pres. Mrs. Wm. Clarke in charge. A story hour has been planned again for Thursdays 9:45 a.m. to 10:45 a.m. All children 3½ to 5 years are welcome.

There will be a Crafts class weekly starting Oct. 22 at 10:00 a.m. till 12:00 noon. Art displays from the schools are a welcome addition to the hall way leading to the library. The constitution drawn up by the executive was accepted by all present. A trip to Elora and Elmira is at present being planned. Anyone interested in going on Oct. 16 should leave their name and address and phone number at the library. Mrs. Pat Mackereth was our guest speaker with a very interesting and timely topic "Regional Government." We learned through charts and her talk the structure of our government and the responsibilities of each tier. We were given a few hints as to how to find the information or persons we wanted by obtaining an R.N. Directory. Mrs. Mackereth stressed the need for local involvement in the new structure and encouraged all of us to become familiar with all aspects of it. At the close of the meeting 15 people renewed their membership. Next meeting is Nov. 19, 1975.

Happy 93rd birthday on Sept. 30 to Miss Eliza Esdall, of Selkirk who is a patient in Norfolk General Hospital.

Remember campaign promises

Well, the smoke has cleared, the old ad copy on which at one time great political candidates pinned their hopes for success now gets trampled underfoot. The campaign posters are all taken down and both winners and losers alike are now putting their feet up to relax, for a short while, after a long hard campaign.

However, they best not leave their feet up too long, because campaign promises which are short lived in the minds of politicians don't always die so easily in the minds of their constituents.

Both the Liberals and the New Democratic party now have more clout which was given to them by the electorate. These two parties have complained for years about the great Conservative majority which has kept them from being able to do anything about the great injustices being done to the people of Ontario.

The Liberals have been screaming for months about such things as fiscal responsibility, more power to local government, and improvements in education.

The Liberal elect in the riding of Haldimand-Norfolk, Gordon Miller has said that administration costs in local government are extremely costly, and that he would like to see a cut down in red tape.

Liberal leader Robert Nixon in his campaign promised to drastically cut back the power of the Ontario Municipal Board to interfere, veto, and delay local decisions.

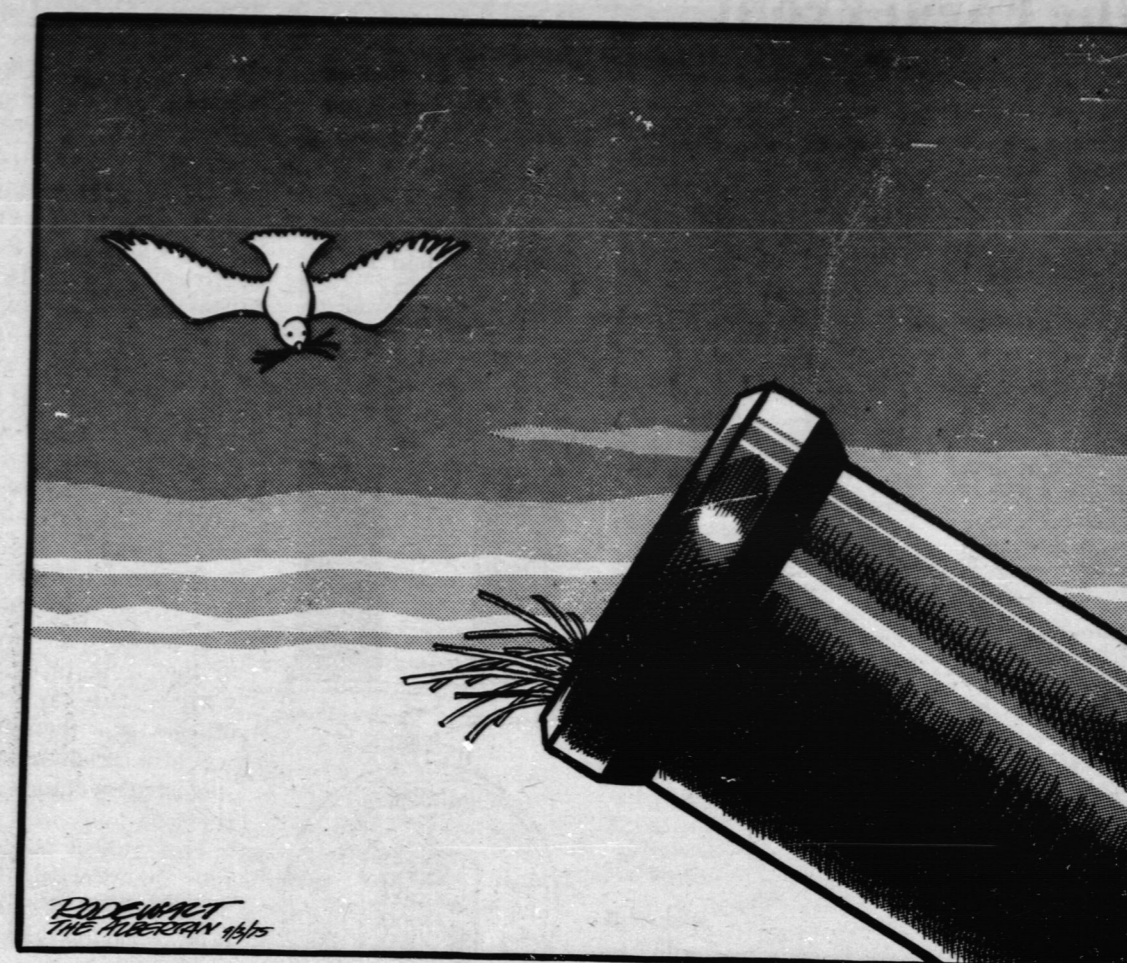

The N.D.P. party has also suggested changes in the structure of local government, with more input from local action groups.

They have also leveled strong criticism at the provincial government over housing policies.

Now no-one is saying that the previous government was great or even good, but what we are saying is that the people of this province have heard election promises from all sides until they are blue or perhaps red in the face.

The people have clearly shown their displeasure with the Tory government of William Davis. They have shown that they are fed up with the high costs of regional government when it seems that the services that they are getting for these high costs are not even as good as before. They are fed up with the run around they get when they ask for a building permit or a severance and get no action for months and then find out there is a building freeze on their property.

They have given the Liberals and the N.D.P. permission to upset the apple-cart if it is needed. The message now for the Liberals and the N.D.P. from the people of Ontario is, "You now have your chance, let 'em have it fellas."

Letter to the editor

Dear Sir:

Last year my daughter was in Toronto for seven weeks as a page in the Ontario Legislature. During that time the students attended school half time and my daughter found herself taking French lessons. She was schooled to find she was the only student among twenty, each from a different riding in Ontario, who had never studied French in elementary school in Haldimand County.

Even more disturbing was her recent registration in secondary school in Waterloo. Because elementary children here have French in Grades 6, 7, and 8 she was strongly advised not to take French. This was a blow to a bright student who was looking forward to learning a new language. In order for her to keep up with her classmates, we can now anticipate the need for a tutor in French at a cost of $10.50 an hour.

In a time of increasing mobility, many other families can expect to run into the same problems if they should move away from Haldimand County as we did. Considering that the Ontario Department of Education strongly recommends that French be taught to elementary school students there is no excuse for this.

How long does the Haldimand Board of Education intend to bury its head in the sand, and ignore the fact that it is giving our elementary school students less than they are entitled to by way of an adequate education? And this in spite of the fact that numerous parent groups throughout the county have for years indicated a desire for French in the elementary schools. Even the argument of lack of qualified teachers is denied the Board, because it has among its teachers at the present time people fully qualified to teach French to elementary students.

I consider myself fortunate to have rescued my children from the antiquated educational system in Haldimand County before further damage is done to them.

Name withheld by request.

ONTARIO ELECTION '75

The Election on Sept. 18, will be talked about for many days to come, and will be written in the history books of the future. The final outcome came as a shock to most, but to some, a minority government was inevitable. The only real surprise, was having the NDP party as the opposition party. The happenings in Queens Park in the next year will tell the citizens of Ontario if the pre-election promises really meant anything.

THANK-YOU JAMES ALLAN

Although Mr. Allan was defeated at the polls on Thursday, I think the people of Haldimand and Norfolk owe him hearty thank-you for a job well done. Any person who has represented his riding for more than twenty years, must have a great deal of self-satisfaction, that they performed at their peak. To you and your wife, Sir, I extend best wishes, and good health for many years to come.

CHILD BEATING

At some time or another, all parents feel like beating the tar out of their children for various things the child has done against our better judgement. Thank God most of us control ourselves, and discipline the child in a more humane, but effective manner. I read a book from the Township of Delhi Library, titled "THE BATTERED CHILD IN CANADA" by Mary Van Stok. This book gives some histories, and an in depth study about the reasons for parents beating their children.

This crime isn't committed too often, however it does occur, and can happen in your own area. If you know that a child is being abused by the parents, it is your responsibility to notify the proper authorities.

LOOKOUT I'M BACKING UP!

Last week two neighbours living across the street from each other, decided to back their cars out of their driveways simultaneously. You guessed it, C-R-U-N-C-H! Fortunately neither driver was injured and damage was minor. Both drivers looked both left and right, but neither admitted looking straight back.
